Strike Stalls Defense Work

Many of the 7,500 employes of the New Kensington, Pa., works of the Aluminum Company of America are pictured top, as they demonstrated outside the executive offices of the company. At the bottom are women workers who refused to go through the C. I. O. picket lines C. I. O. spokesmen told reporters that the strike was called because the company refused to discharge a union member who was more than a year delinquent in his dues. The plant was working on aluminum requirements for the U. S army and navy air corps when the strike was called.

AFL Takes Initiative In Labor Peace Move

Green Hopes New CIO President Will Operate Without Influence of Retiring John L. Lewis

(By United Press)

NEW ORLEANS—The American Federation of Labor planned today to take the initiative in seeking peace with the Congress of Industrial Organizations.

AFL President William Green said that although CIO peace representatives had rejected "many concessions" offered previously, the federation committee would seek another conference after its convention here ends next week.

The chances of peace would be strengthened, Green said, if Philip Murray, newly-elected CIO president, could operate without the influence of his predecessor, John L. Lewis. Lewis still is head of the United Mine Workers, perhaps the most powerful of CIO unions.

He expressed the "hope that we will be able to find peace in the labor movement."

The federation took a week-end recess.

The convention reconvenes Monday to hear Sir Walter Citrine, head of the British Trades and Labor council. Secretary of Labor Frances Perkins speaks Tuesday.

LEAHY NAMED

Admiral to Be Appointed as Ambassador to France.

Admiral William D. Leahy, retired, governor of Puerto Rico, will be appointed as United States ambassador to France, it was announced at the temporary White House executive offices today.

Announcement that Admiral Leahy, former chief of naval operations, would be named to the post which General John J. Pershing was compelled to decline on his doctor's orders, was made by presidential Secretary William D. Hassett.

Hassett said that he could not say when the appointment would become effective. He lauded Admiral Leahy as one of the country's greatest naval authorities and councillors on matters of national defense, and a man of "superb, all around ability."

CIO Prepared To Test Strength

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. —(AP)— The Congress of Industrial organizations, which John L. Lewis held for five years, left its turbulent convention today, condemning "foreign ideologies" and ready to test its strength in labor battles under the leadership of Philip Murray.

Friends of Murray, no newcomer to CIO generalship after service as a vice-president, predicted increasing emphasis on organizing action and less on political action under CIO's new administration.

MAYOR LEAVES

Locke Out of City, Secretaries Keep Destination Quiet.

Mayor William J. Locke was out of the city today and it could not be immediately learned when he would return to his office.

It was reported at his home that he had left with Mrs. Locke. Secretaries at City Hall said they were not authorized to say where he had gone, nor when he would be back.

Stouffer's Cleveland Restaurant Bombed

CHAIN HANDED SECOND BLAST IN TWO DAYS

Owners Still Say Cause of Vandalism Continues to Be Mystery.

MANAGER INJURED

Five Other Employes Escape Unharmed In Euclid Avenue Explosion.

(By Associated Press)

CLEVELAND — A bomb exploded early today at the rear of a Euclid avenue restaurant operated by Stouffer corporation, injuring one of six employes and rocking Playhouse Square in downtown Cleveland.

The blast, heard five miles away, was the second within 24 hours at a Stouffer restaurant. An explosion early yesterday damaged the front of the company's Philadelphia establishment.

Detective Sergeant George Smyth said the explosion here apparently was caused by a bomb made of black powder and attached to a time mechanism. The concussion of the blast nearly overturned a police car in which Smyth was cruising less than a block from the restaurant.

Louis Read, 24, a student manager, received head lacerations from flying debris. Five other employes working in the kitchen escaped injury.

A short time after the bombing, police said Vernon B. Stouffer of Cleveland, corporation president, would confer with Safety Director Eliot Ness and quoted Stouffer as saying he had "vital information" which he would give only to Ness.

Smyth reported the bomb had been placed among boxes in a two-foot areaway at the rear entrance to the restaurant, under the kitchen. Read was showered with rubble and a small section of metal tubing was blown through a window.

The bombed restaurant, one of two Cleveland establishments in the Stouffer chain, was the scene of labor racketeering during remodeling of the building several years ago. Stouffer was a witness against John E. McGee and Don A. Campbell, former Cleveland labor union officials now serving Ohio penitentiary terms for extorting $1,200 from Stouffer under threats of halting the remodeling.

BOMB FOUND

Clevelander Nips Fuse Within 3 Feet of Explosive.

CLEVELAND—(U.P.)—An explosion was averted narrowly in Willoughby today when Tony Taglamonte, 48, discovered a burning fuse attached to eight sticks of tightly-bound dynamite on the front steps of his home.

The fuse, originally 15 feet long, had burned to within three feet of the dynamite which Willoughby police said would have blown the frame house to pieces and blasted the entire neighborhood.

Taglamonte's wife, 15-year-old daughter, and 18-year-old son were in the dwelling at the time. Taglamonte, a truck driver in the village street department, warned the family to flee and he telephoned police.

Poles Continue to Be Nemesis for Nazi Fliers

After having battled valiantly for their doomed country at the outbreak of the war, these Polish flyers became members of the British Royal Air corps. They are now counted among the best of the R. A. F. fighter pilots, being credited with a total "bag" of 126 German planes.

POLICE PROBE 5 BURGLARIES

3 Offices Ransacked, Window In Jewelry Store Broken, Rings Stolen.

Police today were baffled by a series of five burglaries, including the looting of three downtown offices last night in which an undetermined amount of cash and merchandise was taken.

Officers were called to the DeLuxe restaurant, 29 East Fourth street, at 5 a. m. today by the proprietor, George Shamas, when he opened the establishment and found the place ransacked.

Police said Shamas reported the theft of $25 from a cash box. Entrance was gained by breaking in a rear door.

Sam Fox, proprietor of the Fox Jewelry store, Park avenue west, reported this morning that a plate glass show window in his establishment had been smashed and several rings taken.

Officers said the thief apparently used a hammer to break a small hole in the window. No estimate was placed on the loss. Store employes were checking the stock today.

Three offices were entered and ransacked, police reported, by a person using a pass key.

At the Equitable Life Assurance company in the Walpark building, burglars entered the office for the second time in two months and looted a cash box of $15 in change.

Detectives said doors and windows showed no forcible entry, leading them to believe that the burglar used a pass key.

The same method was used to gain entrance to the office of W. C. Goetz, gem dealer, in the same building. Two rings and a metal box containing receipts and papers was missing.

The same thief apparently entered and ransacked the office of H. H. Miller, insurance agent, in the Farmer's bank building. A desk and filing cabinet were broken into but Miller told police nothing was missing.

113 Motorists Get Of Parking Meters Tags on First Day

Metered parking received its official welcome in Mansfield yesterday amid some confusion and as the result 113 motorists were tagged for violations

Police who said they were conducting an educational campaign said more than the usual number of little yellow tags were issued for infractions of the parking regulations.

Most of the tickets were issued, police reported, to motorists who had parked their cars in the meter spaces longer than the alloted time while a few of the tickets were given to motorists failing to park within the white boundary lines along the curb.

Most of the difficulty, they claim, will be eliminated, however, after drivers become acquainted with the new procedure of "buying" parking time.

Police Chief Meade K. Bates said the biggest difficulty was getting truck drivers to pull their vehicles over to the curb instead of double parking.

While police were issuing tags for violations one Mansfielder, who hit upon the Good Samaritan

MYSTERY LEAP

Jumper Doesn't Recall Being Near Kentucky Bridge.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—The reason why Aloys Ruhe jumped 75 feet from the Kentucky state highway bridge into the Ohio river was just as much a mystery to him as anyone else.

The 34-year-old bricklayer made the leap last night and suffered a skull fracture and internal injuries. Taken to a hospital, he said he did not recall being near the bridge, much less taking a leap.

Relatives and friends likewise were at a loss to explain his action. Ruhe was rescued from the river by William Schoultheis, proprietor of a yacht club, and John Wilson, a club employe.

COACH QUITS

MILWAUKEE—(U.P.)—President Raphael C. McCarthy of Marquette university today confirmed reports that the resignation of Leo (Paddy) Driscoll as head coach of the university football team had been accepted by Marquette authorities.

MORROW COUNTY YOUTH KILLED

Boy, 10, Dies at Hospital In Marion After Being Struck On Highway.

Struck by an automobile when he stepped from behind a truck into the highway while helping his father deliver milk, Edwin Loffer, jr., 10, of near Denmark, Morrow county, was dead today. He died Friday in a Marion hospital. The child suffered a broken neck in the accident near Denmark.

The boy's death was among six traffic victims in Ohio in the past 12 hours.

Two sugar refinery workers, Francis Weber, 20, and Arlo Hetrick, 29, were killed near Fremont early today when their car struck a horse and overturned.

Funeral services for the Loffer boy will be held at 1:30 p. m. Sunday at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Loffer and at 2 p. m. at the Methodist church in Denmark. Burial will be in Bryn Zion cemetery.

Surviving, besides the parents, are a sister, Doris Jean, and the grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John Spidel and Mr. and Mrs. Glenn McPeek, all of Denmark.

Rev. John Rumbarger, 70, assistant pastor of the first Lutheran church at Miamisburg, was killed in a train-auto crash in that village. He formerly held pastorates in Circleville, Gibsonburg, and Adamsville, O.

At Canton, Mrs. Genevieve Pertgirdes, 29, and Mrs. Stella Andrea, 33, died of injuries suffered when hit by an automobile.

Patrolmen Watch Route 42, Heavy With Grid Traffic

With traffic on U. S. route 42 swelled to unusual proportions by automobiles en route to the Ohio State-Michigan football classic in Columbus, highway patrolmen were on the alert for traffic violations between here and Columbus today.

As early as 8 a. m. traffic on route 42 was unusually heavy as fans left for Columbus early to avoid the heavier traffic around noon.

So far during the current football season, no serious accidents have marred the patrol's record and additional caution to prevent accidents were taken by highway patrolmen today. Patrolmen from the Mansfield sub-station and patrolmen from other areas kept constant vigil on the highways between here and Columbus throughout the day.

$40 PENSIONS

Ohio Legislature Petitioned For Flat Monthly Allowance.

COLUMBUS —(AP)— Newly elected members of the Ohio legislature were asked today to support a bill to grant a flat $40 monthly pension to the aged.

Raymond J. Jeffrey, organizer, of the Ohio society of old age pensioners, solicited the legislators by postcard and addressed a letter to the pensioners asking them to obtain 98,500 signatures to petitions for presenting the bill to the general assembly.

Hitler Pushes Influence Deep In Balkan Area

Antonescu Says Axis Has Victory In Grasp, Declares Step Taken In Interest of Peace; Really Joined Long Ago

BULLETIN

ROME—(INS)—Spain is expected to sign the Axis tri-partite military alliance tomorrow, well-informed quarters revealed today. By following Rumania and Hungary into the Axis alliance, Spain will be in a position to accept an important role in the "new order" in Europe.

(By Associated Press)

BERLIN—Rumania, a foe of Germany in the World war two decades ago, joined the Nazi-sponsored Axis alliance today.

With this diplomatic stroke, Reichsfuehrer Hitler formally pushed the Axis sphere deep into the Balkans to a point less than 250 miles from the vital Dardanelles.

Rumania's premier, General Ion Antonescu, accompanied his action with flowery language, signed the pact which already linked Germany, Italy, Japan and Hungary.

The tenor of General Antonescu's remarks was that the Axis powers have victory over Britain in their grasp and that Rumania, in joining up, is helping to construct a new order.

He said Rumania joined the Axis inwardly long ago

Contrary to expectation, Hitler was not present at the ceremony formally affiliating the Balkan nation with the original ten-year military and economic three-power pact signed by Germany, Italy and Japan Sept. 27.

Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim Von Ribbentrop, in a brief address on behalf of the original three powers, congratulated Rumania and her leader.

"We are convinced," he asserted, "that today a further step toward final victory of our good and just cause has been taken."

He expressed joy that two nations of southeastern Europe—Hungary, which joined four days ago, and Rumania—were the first to adhere to the pact because in his opinion these states, as no others, "were victims of political interests non-indigenous to this area." He obviously meant Britain and France.

Already in Rumania are German troops in unannounced numbers, sent there, officials have said, to protect the kingdom's oil-producing fields from "British sabotage" and to train the Rumanian army.

Two other countries on the route of "drang nach osten" (drive to the east) were expected to be the next to affiliate themselves with the alliance, which binds each one to aid the others against any new entrant in the conflicts in Europe or China.

They were Bulgaria, which borders Rumania, Greece and Turkey, and Slovakia, the Nazi-protected remnant of dissolved Czecho-Slovakia.

The official announcement, said Nazi Foreign Minister Joachim von Ribbentrop, Gino Buti, director of the political department of the Italian foreign office, and

RESCUE: Hitler Believed Ready To Aid Beaten Italy

(By International News Service)

LONDON—Chancellor Hitler has decided to extricate Premier Mussolini, his junior partner, from a "humiliating position" in the Italo-Greek war, according to information reaching London from a variety of sources today.

British quarters commented that Hitler has decided to act, following capture of Koritza by the Greeks, to "save the Axis from ridicule."

(Editor's Note—A dispatch from Berlin said the official German attitude toward the Italo-Greek conflict remained unchanged for the time being and that it was still regarded as an "Italian-Greek matter." The Greek minister is still in Berlin, this dispatch said, adding that the reich naturally is keeping a close watch on all developments.)

Informed British military quarters agreed that the Greek successes—whether or not they are "too good to last"—undoubtedly had prejudiced Axis strategy at a moment embarrassing for Hitler.

They said the Greeks had risen and smitten the Italians just as the fuehrer was doing a "window-dressing" job throughout the Balkans in preparation for his drive to the Dardanelles and to the rich oil deposits of the middle east.

As a result of the Greek advances, these circles predicted, Hitler now may find himself faced with the prospect of having Allied bases established in the Balkan peninsula, threatening to block his path to the Dardanelles and mid-

CHEERED: Greeks Say Six Fascist Divisions Routed

(By Associated Press)

ATHENS—Victory-cheered Greek cavalry and highland regiments, claiming the rout of six crack Fascist divisions of at least 72,000 men, smashed beyond captured Koritza today for a quick test of Italy's second Albanian line of defense.

The high command told a nation in holiday mood that its army had left "not a single Italian soldier in Greek territory" and was driving Italian lines of resistance deeper into Albania from north of Koritza to the sea

The Greeks reported taking prisoners by the hundreds as they pressed forward on the heels of their foe and said uncounted military stores were seized.

The Greek high command declared its troops had completed the occupation of the Morava mountain range from which Italians were shelled into retreat from Koritza, and of Mount Ivan and the ridge of Kaf-Kant northeast of Koritza toward lakes Prespa and Ochrida.

The Greek announcement said that six Fascist divisions (72,000 to 90,000 men) had failed to hold Koritza

Captured Italian equipment, the Greeks said, included 80 small and heavy guns, 55 anti-tank guns, 20

Sunday N-J Describes Coat of Arms for City

JUST A MINUTE before you begin counting the shopping days until Christmas. . . .

There are several things you'll really enjoy checking into—between turkeys, so to speak. And checking into them in the Sunday edition of The News-Journal is no trouble at all. There are always plenty of arresting pictures, and stories that are informative yet easy to read.

Tomorrow, for example:

COAT OF ARMS

The city's going to have a coat of arms. Plans are for the design to be selected Monday at the mayor's office and the Sunday edition carries pictures of the designs which have been submitted as well as the story behind the illustrations and the unusual request which caused the search for a suitable crest.

A group medical treatment plan comes to Richland county. It's going into operation among clients of the Farm Security administration and tomorrow's edition tells you how the plan works.

GERM CYCLE

Flu germs'll get you if you don't look out. This is the "cycle year" for influenza epidemics and an interview with the city health commissioner tells you what to expect. A chart shows how the cycle runs.

Other local features take you to a meeting of the draft advisory board helping draftees fill out their questionnaires, to Bowman Street school where pupils publish their own "news-paper" with paste and scissors; and old pictures return you to the days when rural mail carriers used horses and buggies and football players draped themselves in artistic poses before the photographer's lens.

NEWS IS BASIS

Up-to-date fiction, colored comics, nationally recognized columnists, the Dionne Quins, and social and sports news build up an edition worth reading

But basic to your edition tomorrow, as every day, is the thorough coverage of news at home and on the world fronts.

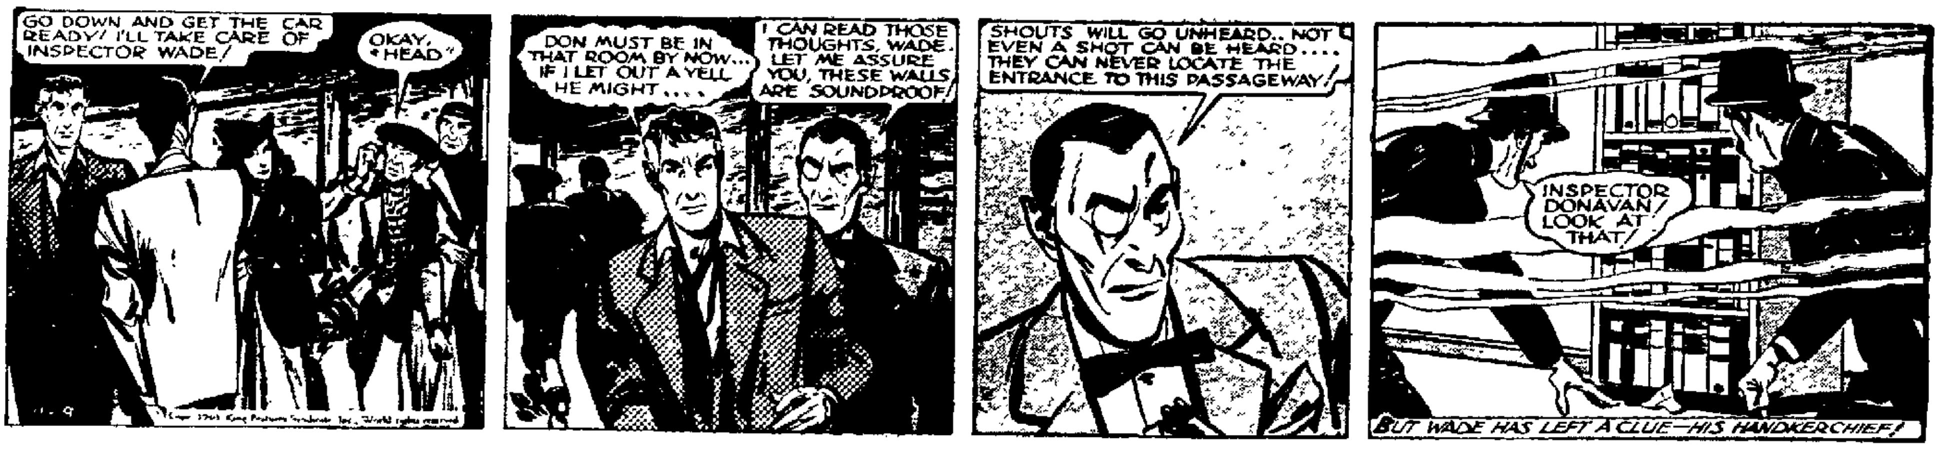
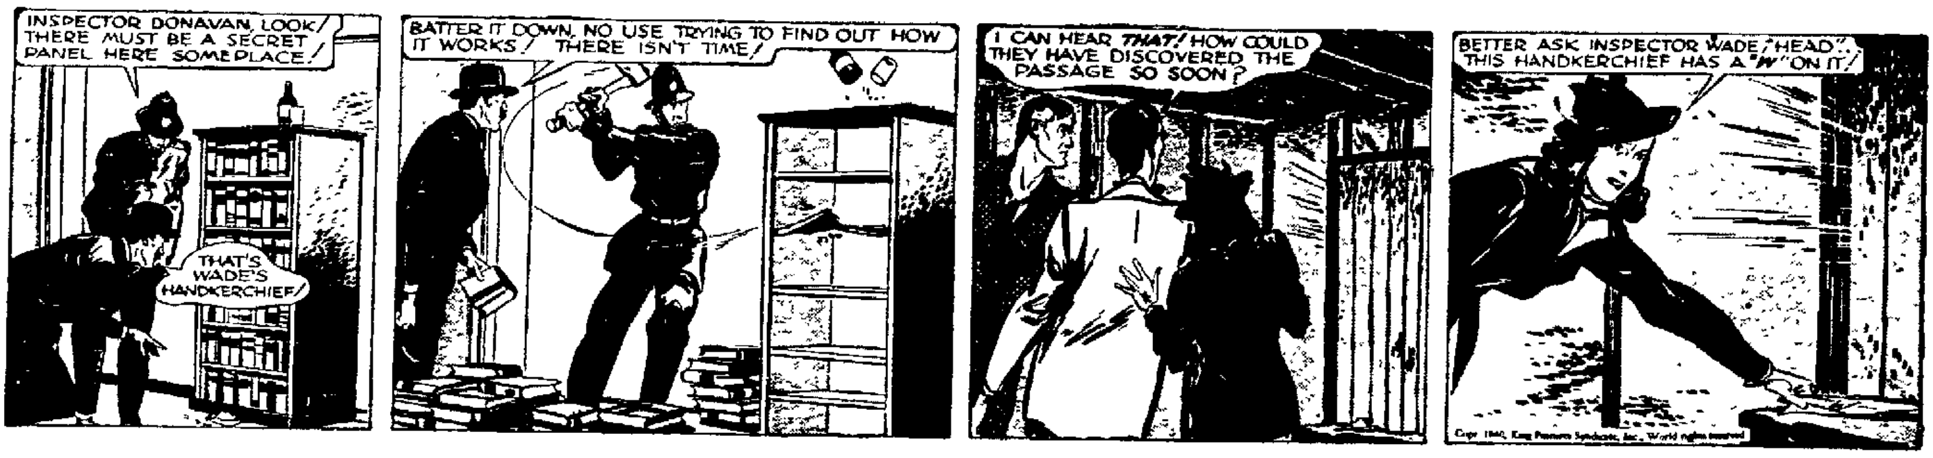
YOUR FRIENDS WILL NOT FIND YOU, INSPECTOR WADE!
THE "HEAD" EVADES THE TEAR GAS BY MEANS OF A HIDDEN PASSAGE....
THE SECRET PASSAGE CLOSES, LEAVING NO TRACE.... HOW CAN DONAVAN SAVE WADE NOW?



GO DOWN AND GET THE CAR READY! I'LL TAKE CARE OF INSPECTOR WADE!
OKAY, "HEAD"
11-19
DON MUST BE IN THAT ROOM BY NOW... IF I LET OUT A YELL HE MIGHT....
I CAN READ THOSE THOUGHTS, WADE. LET ME ASSURE YOU, THESE WALLS ARE SOUNDPROOF!
SHOUTS WILL GO UNHEARD.. NOT EVEN A SHOT CAN BE HEARD.... THEY CAN NEVER LOCATE THE ENTRANCE TO THIS PASSAGEWAY!
INSPECTOR DONAVAN! LOOK AT THAT!
BUT WADE HAS LEFT A CLUE—HIS HANDKERCHIEF!



INSPECTOR DONAVAN, LOOK! THERE MUST BE A SECRET PANEL HERE SOMEPLACE!
THAT'S WADE'S HANDKERCHIEF!
BATTER IT DOWN. NO USE TRYING TO FIND OUT HOW IT WORKS! THERE ISN'T TIME!
I CAN HEAR THAT! HOW COULD THEY HAVE DISCOVERED THE PASSAGE SO SOON?
BETTER ASK INSPECTOR WADE, "HEAD". THIS HANDKERCHIEF HAS A "W" ON IT!

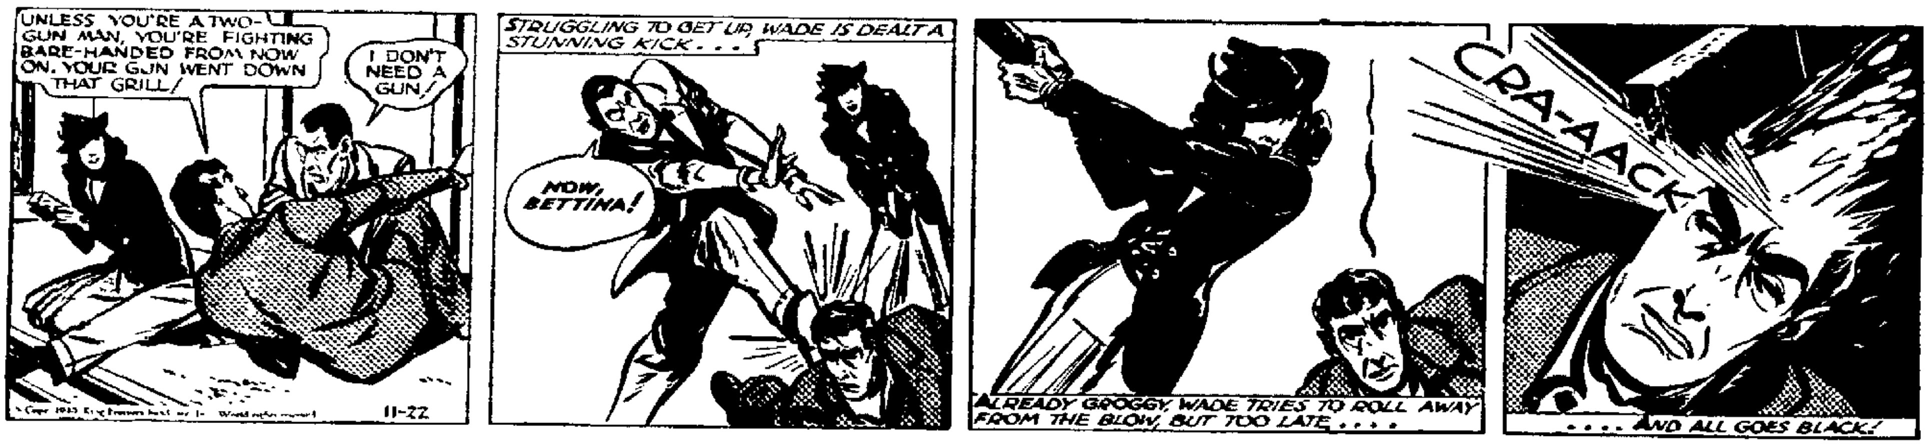
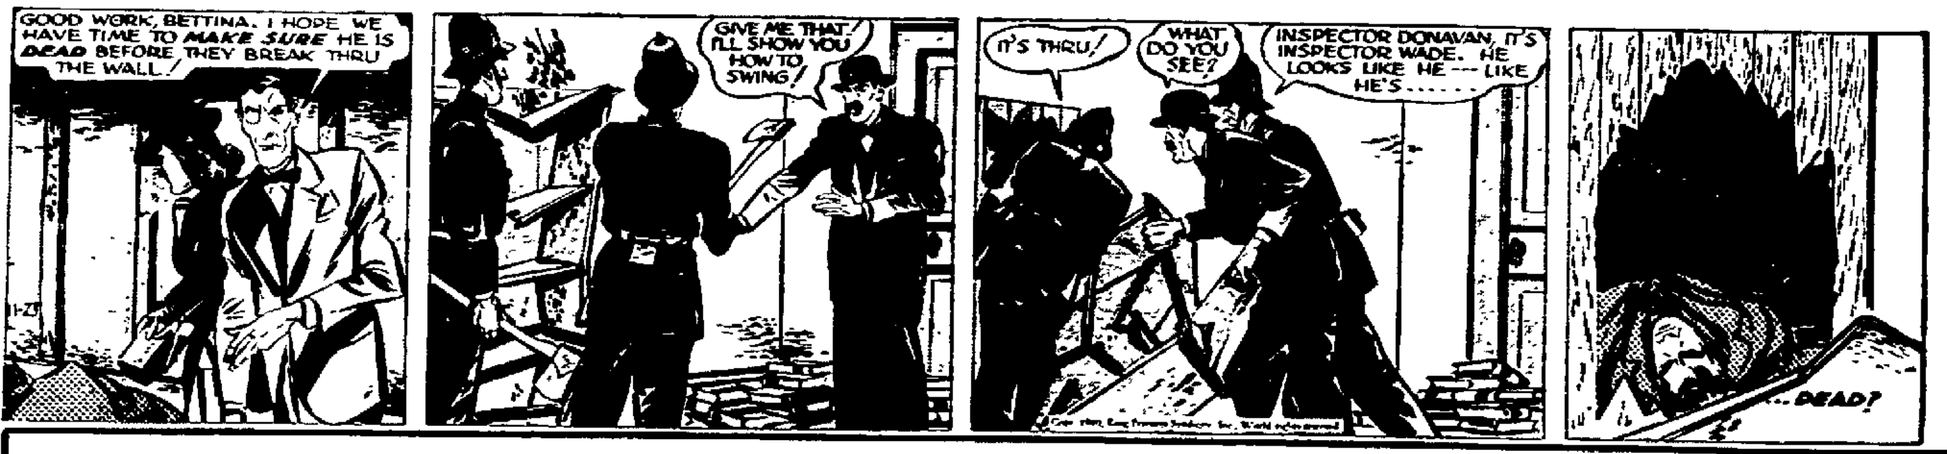
I'VE GOT IT!
NOT THIS TIME!
THE GUN FALLS THROUGH THE GRATE, AS THEY DIVE FOR IT... AND BEHIND WADE, THE MURDERESS TAKES A HAND!



UNLESS YOU'RE A TWO-GUN MAN, YOU'RE FIGHTING BARE-HANDED FROM NOW ON. YOUR GUN WENT DOWN THAT GRILL!
I DON'T NEED A GUN!
11-22
STRUGGLING TO GET UP, WADE IS DEALT A STUNNING KICK...
NOW, BETTINA!
ALREADY GROGGY, WADE TRIES TO ROLL AWAY FROM THE BLOW, BUT TOO LATE....
CRA-AACK
.... AND ALL GOES BLACK!



GOOD WORK, BETTINA. I HOPE WE HAVE TIME TO MAKE SURE HE IS DEAD BEFORE THEY BREAK THRU THE WALL!

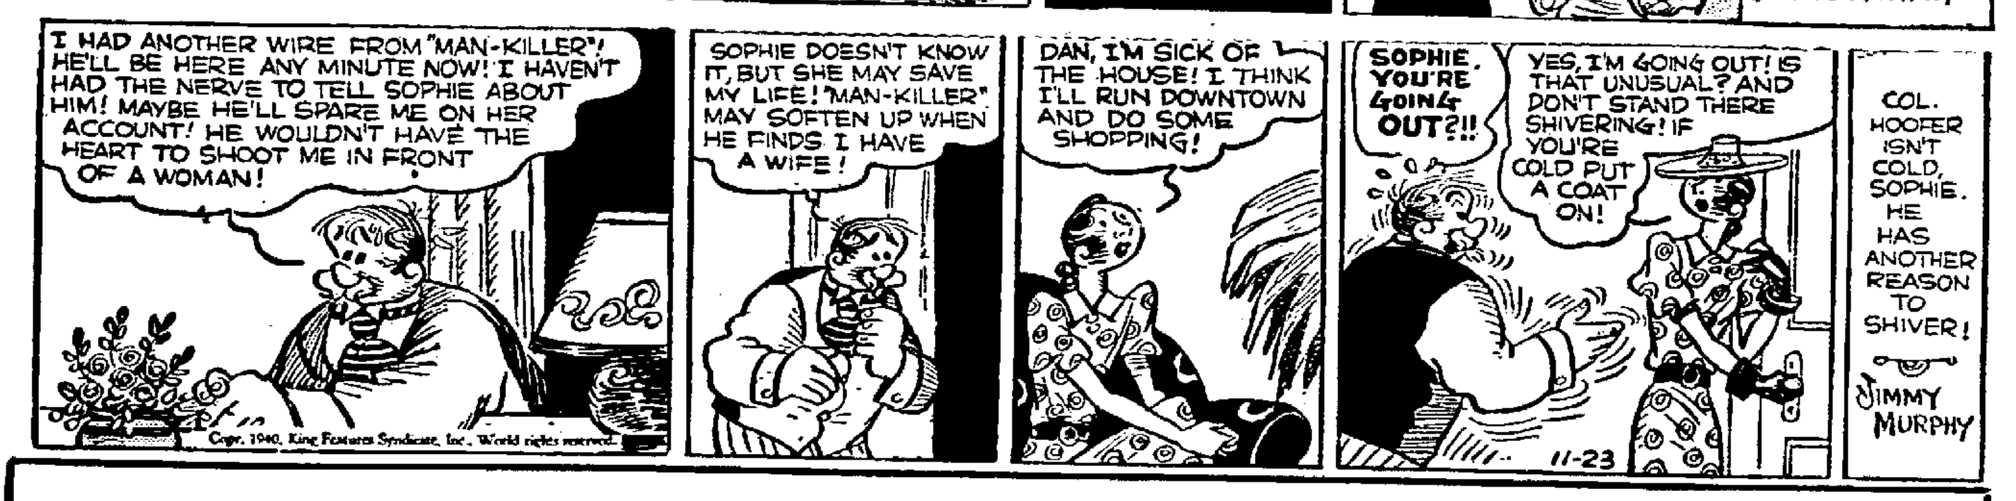
11-22
GREAT SCOTT! AND "LEADPIPE" WAS GOIN' TO TAKE MY PLACE AND MEET "MAN-KILLER"! WHAT'LL I DO NOW?
I'M DESPERATE! MAYBE CASPER CAN THINK OF SOME WAY TO HELP ME!
THE ONLY THING I CAN SUGGEST IS THAT YOU FACE "MAN-KILLER" AND SETTLE IT!
EITHER THAT, OR PERHAPS THE POLICE WILL LET YOU SHARE LEADPIPE'S CELL FOR A WHILE!
TOOTS, HOW CAN YOU KID ME AT A TIME WHEN MY VERY LIFE MAY BE AT STAKE?
JIMMY MURPHY



I HAD ANOTHER WIRE FROM "MAN-KILLER"! HE'LL BE HERE ANY MINUTE NOW! I HAVEN'T HAD THE NERVE TO TELL SOPHIE ABOUT HIM! MAYBE HE'LL SPARE ME ON HER ACCOUNT! HE WOULDN'T HAVE THE HEART TO SHOOT ME IN FRONT OF A WOMAN!

Dies Promises to Link U. S. Communists With Russia

PUBLICITY ON RED ACTIVITY PLANNED NEXT

1,000-Page Document Gives Evidence of Connection With Soviet.

(By International News Service)

WASHINGTON—Dies committee officials said today that the committee will soon make public a 1,000-page document containing evidence linking the Communist party of America to Soviet Russian domination.

The "red paper," which originally was scheduled to be given to the public before the "white paper" on Nazi propaganda was issued, is described by committee officials as a handbook on Communism.

Confined entirely to documentary evidence, the proposed new publication is said to reveal the complete history of propaganda and espionage activities of Communists and methods of fomenting worldwide revolution.

Meantime, Chairman Dies (D) Texas of the committee awaited results of raids which have been, or will be, staged in many cities. He informed the committee that he obtained "valuable evidence" dealing with Nazi propaganda in St. Louis but did not reveal the nature of it.

A committee investigator is scheduled to be in Boston today or Monday to seek lists of officials and members in organizations alleged to be part of, or friendly to, the Rome-Berlin Axis. An investigator is being sent from Cleveland to Buffalo, while another investigator is scheduled to reach Philadelphia early next week, under a revised schedule.

Committee members appeared satisfied with results of publication of the "white paper" on Nazi propaganda, expressing belief that it will have far-reaching effect on suppressing foreign activities in the United States growing out of European animosities and war.

The committee plans to issue its "red book" on Communism despite announcement of party officials that ties with Russia are being severed because of the Voorhis registration law.

Under this law three classes of organizations must register with the department of justice on January 17. They are: Every organization subject to foreign control which engages in political activity; every organization which engages both in civilian military activity and in political activity and every organization, the purpose or aim of which, is the overthrow of the government by force or violence.

The Dies committee issued a statement replying to criticism by Herbert Moore, president of Transradio Press Service, which was named in the Nazi "white paper."

Moore, in a statement, asserted that a flagrant error existed in the report referring to arrangements between Transradio Press and the Nazi Transocean News Service. He asserted that W. G. Quisenberry, a member of the board of directors of Transradio, is not related in any way to Arthur Quisenberry, who was listed by the Dies committee as an original incorporator of Transradio and a paid employe of the Nazi Transocean.

The Dies committee made public a photocopy of the certificate of Incorporation of Transradio Press. It bears the name of Arthur M. Quisenberry as a member of the board of directors and a stockholder of Transradio. Arthur Quisenberry, the Dies committee said, was an employe of Transocean News Service as of April 12, 1939.

Bankrupt Firm In Mansfield Pays Claims In Full

All legal claims against the defunct Wickersham Printing company, Mansfield, declared bankrupt about a year ago, had been paid today, marking the first time in recent years that a bankrupt firm in Richland county paid 100 cents on the dollar.

Atty Charles K Spreng trustee in bankruptcy for the printing firm said there will be approximately $100 left after all claims are paid. The money will be distributed to stockholders.

Claims allowed by Judge William C. Beer of Bucyrus, referee in bankruptcy, totaled about $2,800. Claims filed at the time the bankruptcy proceedings were started amounted to more than $16,000, but most of them were denied by Judge Beer.

Total [illegible] of the company were $3,5[illegible] [illegible] from the sale of [illegible] bankruptcy proceedings [illegible] the trustee [illegible] fees were expected [illegible] approximately $[illegible]

Judge Beer said in his long service as referee in bankruptcy he remembered only one case in the Mansfield [illegible] as much as 97 [illegible] claims were paid [illegible] which all were paid.

Philip Wolfe was general manager of the firm.

Up and Down THE STREET

When John H. Shuler of Lexington steps on the train here Monday for Washington, he will automatically become Capt. John H. Shuler, U. S. A. Acting on orders received from the war department this week, Shuler will report for duty as a captain in the signal corps at the chief signal offices in Washington the first of next week. His orders stated that Monday marked the day when he would be officially registered on Uncle Sam's payroll. Shuler attained the rank of a captain in the signal corps while a student at Ohio State university and until yesterday was employed as an engineer at the Leich Electrical company of Genoa, Ill. Shuler is now visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Shuler of Lexington.

The county treasurer collects taxes and sells sales tax stamps, but he has nothing to do with fines for traffic violations, deputies in the office explained to a confused woman yesterday. Receiving a tag for parking too long near the courthouse, the woman went to the treasurer's office to pay her dollar fine.

CORRECTS ERROR

Story Clears Cited Men's Business Connections.

Business connections of two Mansfielders cited by the state board of liquor control yesterday on charges of state law violations were incorrectly listed in yesterday's News-Journal.

T. P. Stumboff was erroneously listed as a co-proprietor of the Balkan Cash Grocery, 269 North Main. His place of business is the Olympia restaurant, 244 North Main street, according to the last city directory. Angel Gligoroff, proprietor of the grocery, said today that Stumboff had never had any connection with the Balkan Cash grocery.

Tom Georgeff, also cited on a liquor law violation charge, was listed as operating the Olympia restaurant. His place of business is the International restaurant, 264 North Main street.

Though listed in the last city directory as being connected with the Balkan grocery, Georgeff said today he had sold his interest to Gligoroff more than a year ago, and no longer has any connection with it.

The News-Journal regrets the error and makes this correction in fairness to all concerned.

WOMAN ESCAPES LIMA HOSPITAL

No Trace Found of Convicted Slayer of Carnival Man.

LIMA—(INS)—No trace had been found today of Eva Timmer, 49, convicted slayer of a carnival man in 1934, who escaped from Lima state hospital for the criminal insane.

The woman fled after rigging a dummy of bed clothing to lead attendants to believe she was still asleep. The state highway patrol joined in the search.

In her trial at Upper Sandusky she declared that she killed Robert V. Brown when he attacked her. She was convicted of manslaughter.

JUDGE ENJOINS DRUG COMPANY

Orders Newly Opened Firm to Refrain From Selling Under Fair Trade Code.

A temporary injunction was granted today by Common Pleas Judge C. H. Huston to enjoin the Leed Drug company, which opened a store in Mansfield yesterday, from selling certain articles under the minimum prices established by the Ohio Fair Trades act.

The action was taken following a hearing on a petition filed by five independent Mansfield druggists who contended that the Leed store advertised 17 articles for its opening sale at prices below those permitted by the Fair Trades law.

Advertising and seling the standard drug articles in violation of the law constituted "unfair competition and damaged the business of the plaintiffs," the petition stated.

Druggists who filed the action were Paul Shumaker, Guy Lautsbaugh, William T. Hursh, Frank Mayer, and John Dunajtsik. They were represented by Attys. Henkel and Gongwer and Wilson and Rector.

The suit named N. Bachman as president and B. Brizman as secretary of the Leed Drug company. Atty. Irwin Pohl of Cleveland, one of the incorporators of the drug company, was counsel for the firm.

The plaintiffs contended in their petition that articles were advertised by the defendant company at prices ranging from three to 34 cents under the minimum retail prices permitted under the Fair Trades act.

Bachman testified at the hearing that he ordered the 17 articles withdrawn from sale or sold at increased prices after learning that the independent druggists had protested.

PERSONAL TAX PAYMENTS UP

$78,402, More Than Half of Charge, Paid In.

With just two weeks remaining in which to pay personal taxes for the last half of the year without penalty, payments today had mounted to $78,402 more than half of the charge for the half-year period.

Collections so far include $66,284 in general personal taxes and $12,118 in classified levies. The charge for the period is slightly more than $150,000.

Books will close Dec. 7 and a penalty will be collected on taxes paid after that date.

BEQUEATHS 'FATHER'S CURSE' TO HIS 'UNFILIAL' DAUGHTERS

SAN FRANCISCO —(U.P.)— The will of Denis Donohoe III, member of a pioneer San Francisco family, left his two daughters only $1 "and a father's curse."

A codicil attached to the will, filed for probate today, threatened that his entire estate (value undetermined) would go to the "J. Sanborn Doe Dog Hospital" if either of two certain San Francisco attorneys had anything to do with the estate.

Donohoe, 54, died Nov. 14. His grandfather was British consul in San Francisco many years ago. His father was the financial editor of a San Francisco newspaper. Donohoe, born in New York but reared in nearby San Rafael, was a graduate of Columbia university and of the Michigan College of Mining. He was executive manager of the Retail Dry Goods association at the time of death.

In his own hand, Donohoe wrote the following will July 1, 1935:

"Unto my two daughters, Frances Marie and Denise Victoria Donohoe, by virtue of their unfilial attitude toward a doting father, and because they have repeatedly thwarted my efforts to see them, I leave the sum of $1 to each and a father's curse.

"May their respective lives be fraught with misery, unhappiness and poignant sorrow. May their deaths be soon and of a lingering, malign and tortuous nature. May their souls rest in hell and suffer the torments of the damned for eternity."

DIES AT AGE 80

Mrs. Elizabeth Allen Dead; Funeral at Plymouth.

PLYMOUTH—A resident near Plymouth for the past seven years, Mrs. Elizabeth Allen, 80, Springfield road, died at Mansfield General hospital Friday afternoon.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Edna Meill of Morenci, Mich.; Mrs. Wilma Kennard of Galion, and Mrs. Ross Tuttle of near Plymouth, with whom she made her home; two sons, Milton Lynch of Shelby and Louis Lynch of Plymouth; two brothers, Sherman of Wilmington and Clint of Dayton, and 21 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held Monday at 2 p. m. at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ross Tuttle, and burial will be made in New Haven cemetery.

Bricker Sees State Matching County Relief

EXPECTS NEW LEGISLATURE TO PASS FUND

Says Increased Tax Revenue Makes Adequate Aid Plan Possible.

(By Associated Press)

COLUMBUS — Ohio yet may match 1940 county relief expenditures dollar-for-dollar through a special legislative appropriation next year.

Gov. John W. Bricker said today he expected the new legislature, which meets in January, to make additional appropriations for 1940 relief if the state's finances permit.

"At the rate revenues have been increasing, I believe the state will have sufficient funds to provide 50-50 relief matching for 1940," the governor said.

The present legislature, at its special session last summer, appropriated $1,000,000 additional relief funds to permit the state to match county expenditures in 1939.

The governor said he would not know until the end of the year how much additional money would be required to meet half the 1940 relief expenditures.

The governor anticipated that the new legislature would adhere to the policy established for the current biennium of granting a basic $10,000,000 a year for relief.

"Of course we cannot ascertain how much money will be available for relief until the revenues of the state for the next two years can be estimated accurately and the budget prepared," Bricker said.

The executive said he believed, however, that there would be sufficient funds to care for relief adequately, provide an additional $2,500,000 a year for increased old age pensions and continue sizable payments on the state school deficit.

"It looks as though one of the biggest problems facing the new legislature will be to provide additional funds for local governments," he said. "I now am considering this problem with local officials and other interested parties."

One suggestion for increasing local revenues, he added, was to return automobiles to the local property tax duplicates and reduce the state registration fee to a flat $3. He indicated, however, that such a proposal would have difficulty in passing the legislature.

'Back-to-Farm' Movement Gathers Disciples; What About Sabotage In Plants

—By JANE WILLIAMS

THE back to the soil movement is gathering the proportions of a snowball rolling down hill. At least 50 per cent of the people I know, it seems, either own farms or hope to own them. Perhaps the threat of war, or talk of inflation or of some great depression yet to come is responsible for it.

Or perhaps it is just the natural swing of the pendulum in the opposite direction. In the first and second decades of this century, there was a great migration from farms to the city. You couldn't keep a boy down on the farm after he heard of the wages that were being paid in industrial centers. After the first World war the movement to urban centers was intensified, and there was more truth than music in the song "How You Gonna Keep 'Em Down On The Farm After They've Seen Paree?"

Those same boys, now middle-aged men, are still working in factories and wondering how they can save money enough to buy small farms. It isn't so much that they want to farm; it's just that they want something that represents security when the economic illwinds start to blow.

* * *

BUT I'm beginning to wonder, after visiting recently-acquired farms of many friends, if the land really does represent security. The way they are operated now, the owner must have a fairly good income to be able to keep one going. "But," they argue, "that's true of any property in the urban centers, too, and if worst came to worst we could always have a roof over our heads and raise our own food."

But only if they could pay the taxes on the roof and the land. There were millions of acres of farm land sold for taxes during the last depression.

Sam Vining, one of Mansfield's most enthusiastic back-to-the-soilers, and who now occupies one of the snuggest little farm homes in the country, has the right idea I think. "A farm is like a son. Support it, build it up, spend money on it in your active years and in your old age it will keep you."

* * *

THEN there is the story of the farmer who was one jump ahead of the parking meters. He pulled up in front of a North Park street cafe, hitched his auto to the curb in front of one of the standards for the new parking meters. The meters weren't on the standards yet and there were just the iron pipes set in concrete. The farmer got out of the car, fumbled around in his pocket, brought out a nickel and dropped it down into the open pipe.

When a bystander informed him that the pipe was merely the standard he said, "Gosh, I thought that was the meter, and I was just thinking how easy it is to operate!"

THE craze for displaying patriotic colors is being carried to ridiculous heights. In a Main street store window this week were displayed some scanty unmentionables in bright red silk jersey, with borders of white and blue. The sign said:

"Patriotic panties."

Whew!

* * *

WHEN a Kansas City couple appeared at the license bureau, the bride made the groom sign, in the presence of witnesses, a contract not to smoke, drink, play cards, go out at night without her, call on women friends, and to permit her to decide all matters of importance pertaining to the home, according to the deputy recorder of deeds.

If they aren't divorced in the first few years this is what will happen: when they have been married 30 years he will be a measly chap with wistful, watery eyes, a big Adam's apple, a collar that's a size too big for him and a bad case of nervous indigestion. And she will have a mouth like a slit in a stone wall, eyes like hard boiled eggs and a sense of humor like Boris Karloff. And she'll snort whenever she reads stories of golden wedding celebrations.

Please, I'd rather have the divorce.

WHAT'S happened to J. Edgar Hoover and the F. B. I? We are beginning to lose faith in him as explosions and fires pile up in plants engaged in making national defense materials and he continues to deny that they are acts of saboteurs. More than a month ago he was told—openly—by the Dies committee that there were saboteurs in every plant in the country working on the defense program, and Mr. Hoover was given names of many of the workers, according to Mr. Dies. Nothing apparently was done, and the explosions began with alarming frequency. Three plants within 52 minutes had devastating explosions and still Mr. Hoover—and other officials—maintained "they just happened."

He has been warned—and given specific names—that sabotage has just started and that a paralyzing blow will be struck within the next 90 days in the aviation industry.

Is Mr. Hoover concerned for his own prestige or are his hands tied? In any event it would seem that drastic steps should be taken to protect the plants working on defense materials, even if they have to be operated under martial protection.

DID you notice in pictures taken at the policemen's ball last Monday night that every uniformed officer kept his cap on while dancing or sitting with his lady?

Studied the police manual from cover to cover this week to see if there is any precedent or regulations on this point of etiquet. Police rules tell them how to conduct themselves under fire, in case of riot, holdups and murder, but there isn't a word about conduct at a policemen's ball.

I have a hunch they kept their caps on because they think they look nicer with 'em on. If that isn't the reason let Police Chief Meade K. Bates come forth with a better explanation.

RUMANIA SIGNS ALLIANCE PACT FOR NEW ORDER

Hitler Pushes Axis Influence Deep Into Balkans by Diplomatic Stroke.

Japanese Ambassador to Berlin Saburo Kurusu, on one side, and Premier-General Ion Antonescu of Rumania, on the other, signed a protocol sealing Rumania's entrance into the three-power pact.

The protocol merely stated that Rumania had become a party to the alliance, effective immediately, and—like Hungary—would be consulted on matters concerning her.

After the signing, in the same spacious chancellery where the original three-power pact was concluded, General Antonescu, who rose to power after the abdication of King Carol II last September, declared the step was taken in the interests of peace.

"An effective tool for the reorganization of Europe and the world has been created by the three-power pact," he asserted.

The premier said efforts of the past two decades to "secure a durable peace" failed because they were founded on "empty rhetoric of conferences, ideologies which were under the domination of reprehensible interests of destructive forces."

Envoys of Bulgaria and Slovakia are expected in Berlin next week.

Martial Law For Dardanelles

ANAKARA, Turkey—(AP)—Sections of Turkey surrounding the strategic Dardanelles, which straddle the land route from Europe to the Near East and Africa, were under martial law today because of "the general political situation."

The announcement was made only a short time after German Ambassador Franz Von Papen returned from Germany, presumably with a virtual ultimatum that Turkey affiliate with the Axis' "new European order."

Observers expressed belief that Von Papen might be carrying a near-ultimatum proposal that Turkey, a friend of Great Britain, agree to stand aside in the event Bulgarian and German troops move to help Italy down Greece, another British friend.

The Istanbul press reiterated statements that Turkey, while not looking for a fight, would fight if it seemed necessary.

Turkey said she would send her "2,000,000 bayonets" into action if Bulgaria moved against Greece. And even since Turkey's friend Soviet Russia sent Premier Vyacheslaff Molotov to talk to German leaders in Berlin, the Turkish press has declared any threat to Turkish sovereignty would be met by Turkey's army.

The newspaper Ikdam said:

"No one is able to say that Russia would accept easily a German attack on Greece, which would carry German troops toward the Dardanelles.

—This Is the Life!—

When Day's Done for Recruit, He's Likely to Be Done, Too

This is the fifth of a series describing camp life for the new citizens' army.

* * *

By MORGAN M. BEATTY
(AP Feature Service Writer)

WASHINGTON—The army will introduce many a young American this winter to the full meaning of Sunday, the day of rest.

It will be the one full day of rest the citizen soldier will get each week, and if he doesn't actually use part of it for that purpose, the army will think the 24-hour day it has mapped out has failed in its purpose.

On four days each week, at least 11 hours will be active or working hours, with time out only for eating and catching your breath. On Wednesdays and Saturdays, most of the boys will get an afternoon off from strenuous training.

Back of this schedule lies the idea that men must be honed up to fighting form by hard work and hard play. In most other nations, armies get two years to pummel their civilian manpower into fighting units. Our training period is only a year.

From 6 to 5.

So usually, it will be up at 6, and one darn thing after another until about 5. Then supper, a movie or boxing bout and bed, preferably at nine. Not later than 10.

At first there'll be a lot more drill than flabby civilian muscles will like. Aching, creaking and groaning will be common. That will last one month. The army will call it basic training. Most of the recruits will figure it's basic torture.

But after a month the draftee will be hard enough to leave his reception center and go either to the regular army or the national guard for specialized training. In modern armies, specialists are the rule, not the exception. More than 1,000 skills are required.

Hard work and hard play fit into a schedule designed to put men in fighting trim.

The army will find these skills with a punch card system. A man's skills will be listed when he comes in. After basic training, skills opposite holes in the cards will be run through a machine. It will automatically separate all the skills, and men will be assigned accordingly.

Truck drivers will probably go into a tank corps. Photographers into the signal corps, photographic section, and so on. Even hobbies will be listed to sift out unusual skills.

And Mom, P. S., Don't let this hard work schedule worry you. The army figures your son will be better off if he's dog tired every night, and ready for sleep. And they won't work him when he's sick. An ingrown toe-nail will be enough to send him to the camp hospital.

Tomorrow: Officers out to win men's respect.

LABOR PEACE GATE OPENED

AFL Takes Initiative Toward New Negotiations With CIO Officers.

and economic policies which kept the CIO convention boiling underneath for several days, brought sharp warning from both Lewis and Murray to end the "bickerings" and present a united front during the new regime.

Murray, in closing the convention, told the departing delegates, "in this emergency the forces of the CIO should be united as they have never been united before."

After five days of oratorical fireworks in the convention hall where Lewis parted company with the American Federation of Labor in 1935, the CIO adopted these major policies:

1. Condemnation of Naziism, Communism, and Fascism as inimical to the labor movement.

2. No peace pact with the AFL until it can be made on CIO's terms.

3. Continuation of the fight that Lewis started to keep government contracts from firms held guilty of violating labor laws.

Labor peace advocates, who wanted CIO to re-explore the possibilities of peace with the AFL, said they were still hopeful that peace conferences could be arranged, despite the failure of the convention to take any steps in that direction.

Well-informed labor leaders, however, said they saw little prospect of the CIO and the AFL meeting soon to discuss peace terms.

Lewis's plans for the future were a secret. He is president of the United Mine Workers union, key unit of the CIO, and in that post may continue to be a strong factor in CIO affairs.

DEFENSE BASE POLICY UPHELD

MONTEVIDEO, Uruguay —(UP) President Alfredo Baldomir said today that the government would continue negotiating with the United States about naval and air bases in Uruguay despite the senate's censure of its foreign policy.

In a session which lasted into the early morning hours and was marked by bitter denunciations of Foreign Minister Alfredo Guani's policies, the senate yesterday approved a motion disapproving of naval and air base discussions with the United States.

Morris Marquis, proprietor of the Marquis Printing company, 70½ North Diamond street, his pockets filled with pennies and little green tags, was searching out cars parked in spaces with the "violation" sign showing.

Depositing a penny, Marquis attaches his tag to the windshield of the machine, the tag explaining that the additional time was paid for through the courtesy of his firm and urging the driver to patronize the company.

Meanwhile, Service-Safety Director C. M. Crafton announced that the first collection of the meters would be started Monday morning. Lloyd L. Kochenderfer, the collector, will take the city's three day collections to the Mansfield Savings Trust National bank for auditing purposes.

TORPEDOES HIT THREE VESSELS

Two British Ships and Swedish Freighter Attacked.

NEW YORK—(AP)—Radio messages picked up by Mackey radio said today that two British ships and a Swedish freighter had been torpedoed about 400 miles off the Irish coast in an area known to be infested with German U-Boats.

They were the Blairesk, 3,300-tons, the Tymeric, 5,228 tons and the 5,135-ton Swedish Anten.

The Anten radioed she had taken the Tymeric survivors aboard and was still afloat despite damage. The Tymeric apparently went down quickly.

At 7:30 p. m. Rev. C. A. Portz, pastor of the St. Mark's Lutheran church, will be the guest speaker. This will be the annual men's service with special music featuring the program.

Members of the First district will meet at the Parish House for an all-day quilting Wednesday, and Sixth district members will meet Tuesday at the same place. Earnest Workers members will convene at the Parish House Monday at 2 p. m.

Luther League will be held at 6:30 p. m. with the intermediates having as their topic, "Lutherans On the High Seas;" seniors, "Thanksgiving" in charge of Robert Kochheiser; and young people's group, "What It Means to Support Our Church" in charge of Geraldine Schwartzkopf.

'Soul and Body,' Lesson Topic

"Soul and Body" is the subject of the lesson-sermon which will be read in the Church of Christ, Scientist, Sunday.

The Golden Text is: "O Bless our God, ye people, and make the voice of his praise to be heard: which holdeth our soul in life, and suffereth not our feet to be moved" (Psalms 66:8,9).

Among the citations which comprise the lesson-sermon is the following from the Bible: "Why art thou cast down, O my soul? and why art thou disquieted within me? hope thou in God: for I shall yet praise him, who is the health of my countenance, and my God" (Psalm 42:11).

Convention To End Sunday

The annual convention of the Oriental Missionary society will end tomorrow at the United Brethren church, Park avenue east. Services will continue through Sunday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. John Seamands of China and Mr. and Mrs. John Duryea of Los Angeles, Calif., will conduct the meetings. They will show pictures of their missions abroad and the work being done there.

Mansfield News-Journal
AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER
MANSFIELD, OHIO, SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 23, 1940.

Drive carefully tomorrow—and remember that traffic regulations are intended for YOUR protection.

Now if someone would just devise a parking meter on a "double or nothing" basis its success would seem assured.

Experience of those Italian invaders of Greece emphasizes the advantages of carrying a road map when traveling in strange territory.

Learning To Use Parking Meters

FAVORABLE comments have predominated thus far in discussion of parking meters, which were placed in operation on several of Mansfield's downtown streets yesterday, with a view to relieving traffic congestion in the central business area.

One immediate advantage noted was the ease of finding convenient parking space for a penny charge, giving 12 minutes time for an errand, to make a purchase at a store, or do the morning or afternoon marketing.

While there was some confusion as to method of using additional pennies to cover fractional parts of an hour, this is a detail which will become clear to all meter users after a trial or two, as will also the requirement that cars be parked within the white lines indicating space to which each meter applies.

Another interesting feature to which meter users will become accustomed is to be on the lookout for unexpired time on the meter alongside of which they park, as this time may be sufficient to meet needs, and if this is the case it is not necessary to deposit a coin.

Another suggestion is that, by finding a convenient metered parking space at 5:48 p. m., Monday through Friday, payment of a penny will assure a parking place through the entire evening if desired, without additional cost, as the meter charge stops at 6 p. m. on these days and at 9 p. m. Saturdays. Also keep in mind that no payment is to be made for parking in metered spaces on Sundays and holidays.

Motorists uncertain as to the method of operating the devices will do well to take time to read the instructions which appear on the street side of each meter.

The police department idea of carrying through an educational program, for a few days, to acquaint motorists with the use of meters, rather than penalizing unintentional offenders, is a good one. It might even be worthwhile to have courtesy cards in use for a week or two, calling attention to specific offenses and warning against repetition, instead of "tagging" in the customary way.

Correct Their Physical Defects

EARLY DRAFTEES are moving toward training camps now, only two months and a few days after the first peacetime conscription bill became law. The first groups to go are a small fraction of the 800,000 men to be called by next June. The number originally to be called by Dec. 1 has been greatly reduced because of the large number of volunteers.

Before they go to their respective camps these men must undergo a second physical examination. Army doctors will check the findings of examining physicians of the local draft boards. Perhaps a few more men will be eliminated because of physical defects.

This brings up a question that interests many people. Will there be any follow-up of minor ailments discovered by the army examinations? Will the lads whose teeth need attention, whose eyes need glasses, who should have tonsils out, who are underweight, and all the rest, just go back to their present routine without having any of these troubles corrected?

That should not be the case. Health deficiencies discovered by army, navy, air corps or marine doctors should be taken care of. Some way to do this could perhaps be worked out if the individual is unable to pay for the work himself. This is an opportunity to improve the nation's health that should not be neglected.

Science Turns To Fantasy

THE MONTHLY publication of Griffiths Observatory in California carries an article described as "something between sober scientific description and fantasy." It deals with rocket trips to the moon, not so many centuries from now. It suggests that scientists will take such trips, not just for the ride but in order to set up telescopes of a size not dreamed of on earth.

It will be necessary to accomplish quite a number of things before this comes about, they frankly admit. First, they must discover a proper fuel, a goal "not so fantastic as it sounds." A review of the scientific marvels and discoveries of the past century encourages them to change the word "impossible" for "probable," in this connection.

Travelers to the moon will wear special suits constructed to counteract atmospheric changes. They will carry large shipments of air from the earth so that they will be able to breathe while traipsing around the universe.

From the moon, men may learn to take off to other celestial airports. Or are the scientists spoofing?

Those Delayed Deliveries

SOME months ago, when nations were falling before Hitler's armies like tenpins, the world was awed by one of his nifty propaganda moves. It was the sensational sales campaign in South and Central America. German agents persuaded buyers that they could fill orders for all kinds of manufactured goods and raw materials by October 1. The war would be all over but a little mopping up here and there. Britain would be conquered and her domination of the sea would be ended. Germany would be producing normally and expanding her trade in every direction.

Some people in both the southern and northern continents of this hemisphere fell for the boast. Up here business men immediately concerned were impressed with Germany's might, not to mention the low prices asked for the promised goods and the cash guarantees of delivery that were posted.

Germany was not able to make good on those orders. In some cases goods were actually delivered, but they were bought in other countries and delivered as substitutes for the German merchandise ordered. When American shippers became suspicious many refused to fill such orders. Latin customers have caught on by now, and German prestige has suffered accordingly.

Back in 1896, when William McKinley was elected president, Prosperity Arches were built in a number of cities—and that might be a good WPA project.

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—Rags Ragland, Pat Harrington and Frank Hyers have been around a long time, and they know all about Broadway, but it wasn't until "Panama Hattie" came along that the big stem sat up and began to take notice of them.

Being comedians, this is easily explained. Broadway under any circumstances is a tough nut to crack, but comedians have a more difficult time than others. Fewer comedians get the chance to test their comic powers than actors of any other classification. Just why, I am unable to explain. But it is true.

If you glance back through the records of the last ten years you will find no more than three new arrivals whose antics have pleased the public to any considerable extent. They were Danny Kaye, Abbott & Costello, and Phil Silvers. Now Rags and his cronies edge into the picture.

* * *

IN "PANAMA HATTIE" they are three dumb but energetic gobs thinking only in terms of "dames." They fear only the penalties that await misbehaving sailors. They are, in the light of their new success, the happiest triumvirate of zanies in New York.

Rags himself is a graduate of the old burlesque seminaries, where he has clowned through 11 years. Once before, in an inferior production known as "Who's Who," he appeared briefly. Buddy DeSylva remembered this bit, and summoned him by telegraph from Chicago for the new rôle. It was a happy hunch.

Pat and Frank move into the legitimate big time from the small, crowded floors of the Manhattan night clubs. Their work has something of the recklessness of "The Front Page." Pat did have one other brief appearance on Broadway—he was with Helen Hayes in "Ladies and Gentlemen" last winter. But it was only a bit, and the play was not a dramatic success.

* * *

THESE three move through "Panama Hattie" with the unpredictable impulse of a fever chart. Their comedy is sometimes low but it is always hilarious. It makes people laugh long and loud, in sudden and frequent bursts. And that, I think, is all the justification they need.

In a recent screed we described Ginny Simms as wearing a "candy-stick" dress. That's how it seemed to us. Now comes this correction: "She wore a new model electric blue gown with velvet top, fitted with short puff sleeves, the skirt divided at the waist, revealing a bare midriff. The skirt is very full and she wore a layer of petticoats, one ruffled rose taffeta and the other ruffled organdy."

In any case, she sure looked pretty.

Adjournment Defeat Shows Trend

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON—The most significant thing about the refusal of the house of representatives to adjourn, when everybody knew that President Roosevelt wanted congress to go home, is not the majority of 43 against the adjournment resolution, but the fact that 45 Democrats voted with the Republicans. And this despite the impassioned appeal of one Democratic member, in the discussion before the motion was put, that it was an "insult" to the president to oppose adjournment.

If that gentleman was right then 45 Democratic members of the house voted to "insult" the president.

Of course, their votes did not mean anything of the sort. Very few of them would want to "insult" the president, even if one studied their private views. But these 45 were perfectly willing to oppose something the president wanted, and to do so in public. Most of them, for that matter, were perfectly willing later to subscribe to the president's own comment that if congress wanted to stay in session it was all right with him.

* * *

COMING so soon after Roosevelt's tremendous electoral vote victory, and considering that Roosevelt has four more years of power, the fact that 45 Democrats in the house voted against something he wanted does not foreshadow a maximum of cooperation between the White House and Capitol Hill in the days to come.

On the contrary there is every indication that congress, and especially the house, may become as independent as the proverbial hog on ice on the various controversial issues to arise.

This adjournment vote demonstrated that the new leadership of the house is no more able to perform miracles than when Speaker William B. Bankhead was alive. The chief difference is that in Bankhead's time there was no certainty that Roosevelt would not retire to private life next January. When the house voted against adjournment: it KNEW that Roosevelt would be in power during two more congresses.

* * *

WHILE the Democratic majority will be slightly greater in the next house of representatives, this increase is not important. Forty-five Democrats are plenty, when joining the Republican representatives in any vote, to become a majority.

So that, in a way, what might be called the independent Democrats, though as a matter of fact most of these "insurgents" are old-line party men, will control the house from now on—certainly for the next two years.

While the administration majority at the other end of the Capitol, the senate, is more impressive, there are plenty of possibilities for trouble over there. Senator Pat Harrison, of Mississippi, whom the president kept from being made Democratic leader of the senate, is chairman of the finance committee, which will handle the tremendously important new tax legislation. Senator Walter F. George, of Georgia, whom the president tried to purge two years ago, will probably be chairman of the senate foreign relations committee.

Does Wishing Work?

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

WHY don't our dreams come true? Why won't our wishing work?

"WISH HARD ENOUGH AND YOU'LL GET WHAT YOU WANT"—that's the credo of the modern world. Our fathers had a similar notion when they said—"HITCH YOUR WAGON TO A STAR." But we've gone further. We believe we can make the stratosphere merely by concentrating upon it. And, of course, howling hard enough against any other destiny.

Yet, somehow, it doesn't work. The world is getting fuller and fuller of people who want to be something they aren't File clerks who want to be writers. Housewives who'd like to be singers. Millinery salesladies who yearn to be dancers. And gas station attendants who firmly believe they could make Clark Gable look like a wad of waste.

But is it getting them anywhere? It is not. . . . Yet all their lives they've wished and wished AND WISHED. That, according to all the Success Books, should work, plenty and pronto. But it doesn't. And there's the devil to pay!

For the frustrated yearner, who was once merely the village joke, is rapidly becoming Public Problem No 1. Homes are breaking and divorce rolls swelling because Mary Jones thinks she ought to be a Willa Cather. And you'd be surprised to know how many of last year's grads can't see jibs in the shipping room because they want to croon over the air waves.

But why? If wishing really works, why doesn't it work for them?

Because there's something wrong with the wishing.

Nine times out of 10, we don't know what we're wishing or why we're wishing it - and wouldn't like it if we got it.

These yearners, for example. They say they want to LIVE and are ready for a fuller, freer life. As proof, they point to the fact that they "simply can't stand" the humdrum routine which satisfies lesser mortals, and are fed up with its drudgery and discipline. They must, they protest, have beauty. And they really think they're telling the truth.

But they're kidding themselves. They're not hungry for beauty. They're just fed up with boredom. Peeved because they're never noticed. Jealous of people who are. And rarin' to go anywhere that offers EXCITEMENT and extra size SPOTLIGHT FOR EXHIBIT A.

Laziness, restlessness and ingrown egotism—that's what animates nine-tenths of our ambitious wishing. And that's why it never gets anywhere. They're not really trying to GET anything, these Wishers. They're simply trying to GET AWAY FROM SOMETHING. And that kind of negative wish never works.

Wishing DOES work. . . . If you really know what you're wishing and have the makings in yourself to cause your wish to come true. If Mary Jones honestly wants to write . . . if she has the constant hunger and the habit of thought . . . if she loves words and is willing to stand what it takes to be a writer . . . then Mary Jones can be a writer. No matter how poor she is, or how unschooled, or how obscure, if Mary Jones wishes to be a writer under those conditions she CAN.

But if Mary Jones merely thinks she wants to be a writer because she's sick of drudgery, monotony and obscurity, and because she thinks a writer's life is glamorous and thrilling . . . then Mary Jones can never be a writer. For she doesn't really wish to be. Yet even in that case, she'll get what she wishes. For what she really wishes is TO BE A QUITTER. And with every hour of idle dreaming, she's doing it - by paying what every quitter pays, in lack and loneliness.

YOU'LL GET WHAT YOU WISH IF YOU REALLY WISH IT AND HAVE WHAT IT TAKES FOR THAT WISH.

Timely Editorial

That Driver Must Be Crazy.

Many times you have said, "He must be crazy," when a wild driver did one of the countless acts in traffic which tend to disprove that this is a rational world. Your lack of confidence in the sanity of such motorists now has some official backing. Detroit has compiled psychiatric tests on 500 errant drivers. The physicians found 10 of them feeble minded and only 131 measured as high as average intelligence.

License laws as they stand now place no bar against persons who are mentally and temperamentally unfit to drive motor cars. No effective bans are placed against them even when their unfitness is revealed by lives lost as the result of their acts. When their mental quirks are still further twisted by a few drinks, their potentialities for disaster are appalling.

The Detroit study gives a reminder of how far Ohio and most other states have to go before they arrive at the beginning of a sensible control of traffic hazards now caused by incompetent, irresponsible and anti-social drivers. —Toledo Blade.

Imaginary Troubles.

I will gladly share with you
Troubles that are true,
But imaginary ones,
Those you must pursue

All alone. I will not climb
Any hill afar,
All that I will pledge to aid,
Troubles as they are.

Troubles that may never be,
These I must put by:
Quite enough to solve today's,
Only that, I'll try.

This Is Ohio

THE Indians had a high regard for fertility of land in the region of what is now Ohio. In Captain James Smith's account of his captivity with the Ohio country tribesmen in 1755-59, he makes some observations of their agricultural life.

Smith speaks of the potatoes growing spontaneously. He described the vegetable as a kind of rough, brown potato, very palatable and nourishing. Dried green corn mixed with beans was used by almost every tribe in Ohio. They also grew pumpkins in great numbers.

Although Indian agriculture was crude and undeveloped in form, it indicates that Indian civilization was not so low in the scales as many believe, some historians contend. The Indian was greatly handicapped because he had no domesticated animals as beasts of burden.

Summary of Week's Happenings

Opposing Labor Forces Convene; FDR Suggests 'Honorable Peace'

—By ASSOCIATED PRESS

AGENTS for the bulk of America's organized labor met either in Atlantic City (CIO) or New Orleans (AFL) this week. They talked mostly about prospects of meeting next year in one city under one command.

CIO

At first, CIO leaders weren't so much concerned about labor unity as the possibility of a chair-swinging civil war in CIO ranks. Backers of Sidney Hillman, of the Amalgamated Clothing Workers, were still peeved at John L. Lewis for backing Wendell Willkie. And they accused Lewis of giving key committee posts to supporters.

Hillman and Lewis stayed at hotels 200 feet apart. During a stroll one evening they bumped into each other (perhaps through the finagling of well-wishers) on the boardwalk. Both beamed, chatted, then retired to a hotel for their first talk in weeks.

On Monday Lewis—with his eyes made misty by an ovation—said he would keep his promise to quit as head of CIO if FDR won. (He didn't resign, though, as head of the mine workers.) Phil Murray, a friend of both Lewis and Hillman, was pushed forward as his successor, protested he didn't want the job, but was selected and accepted.

* * *

Lewis ridiculed Hillmanite proposals to resume peace parleys. "It would be a waste of time," he said, "to raise the hopes of millions . . . by making it appear that there is any possibility of peace." The convention voted, however, to continue keeping a peace committee available.

He warned that AFL proposals for labor unity were illusive and hypocritical, that the AFL would seek to carve up several CIO unions to its own satisfaction. In any merger, he said, industrial unionism must be preserved.

Those who claim CIO policies are inspired by Communists or Nazis lie, he said. And that, he shouted, goes "for old lady Green down in New Orleans."

AFL

AFL President Green made no attempt to disguise his intense interest in the CIO meeting. When Lewis said he was quitting, Green smiled, raised his eyebrows and said solemnly that if Lewis didn't also quit as head of the powerful mine workers union, the next CIO president would be a Lewis pawn.

FDR wired a plea for a "just and honorable peace." And later the AFL proclaimed it would meet with the CIO "anywhere, anytime." Green indicated that only original CIO unions which left the AFL in the 1935 revolt might be welcomed by AFL intact.

Just as the CIO worried about "isms," the AFL mulled a proposal to strengthen its leadership's power to combat union racketeers.

At Home

Defense Tie-up.

At Vultee Aircraft, Inc., the West Coast's fourth largest aircraft factory, the defense program's most serious tie-up began last week-end. The company has $84,000,000 in warplane orders.

The United Automobile and Aircraft Workers' union (CIO) had demanded an increase in the minimum wage from 50 cents to 75, then receded to 65. The company, had counter-offered 55 cents after three months' employment and of 60 cents after a half-year. At this point the union insisted there was nothing to arbitrate, struck.

Federal agents brought both sides into drawn-out conferences and agreement seemed near.

* * *

Musical Showdown.

ASCAP vs. BMI spells fight—a battle over the fees paid by broadcasters for the music they use.

ASCAP is the American Society of Composers, Authors and Publishers, which, under its five-year contract with radio stations expiring Dec. 31, is receiving something like $4,400,000 this year as fees for its copyrighted tunes.

It is asking a new contract which would raise the figure (double it, the broadcasters say) and include network programs. The present contract involves only individual stations.

BMI is Broadcast Music Inc., organized by the National Association of Broadcasters to compete with ASCAP.

ASCAP contends that radio, a prolific user of music, should pay in accordance. The broadcasters argue the new fee is 'way too high.

Dies Produces a 'Spy.'

With the echoes of a chain of defense industry explosions still rumbling in the headlines, Rep. Martin Dies this week set his agents to raiding headquarters of "Italian and German organizations" in Chicago, New York and several other cities.

Prize catch was a 23-year-old German who said his name was Heinrich Peter Fassbender, and that he had worked for the Nazi secret service for five years, first in Spain and Belgium then in the U. S. Fassbender was picked up while "operating out of Los Angeles."

To uncover spies and saboteurs the Dies committee proposed congress grant at least $1,000,000. To back its request it has prepared a "white paper." Dies said it "connects consular representatives of the German government with fifth column activities."

Abroad

Hitler's Visitors.

Save for Turkey and Greece, there isn't a country in southeastern Europe that is in any position to say "no" to Adolf Hitler.

Yet this week Hitler carefully called in leaders from that area and elsewhere. Observers wondered if Il Duce's woes in conducting the Greek campaign had made Hitler feel a bit less assured about his expected drive toward the Near East.

Apparently he had believed Mussolini would have Greece mopped up by the time he was ready to move. Instead it had become imperative that his army do a rescue job in Greece first.

Quotes

William Allen White, Kansas editor, said, approvingly, that the phrase "short of war" used in connection with aid to Britain, had changed to "short of a declaration of war, or sending troops abroad."

Wheeler McMillan, editor of the Farm Journal: "We shall not fail to be humanitarian, but we can do no more inhuman thing than to permit the United States, the one protector of free government, to be drawn into future destruction."

* * *

Nipponese Projects.

Japanese troops continued to withdraw from South China. Observers in China believed that the Japanese planned to move deeper into southeastern Asia from their new bases in French Indo-China—perhaps to Saigon (Indo-China), Thailand and Singapore.

Another theory was that Japan was giving China "face" in order to open peace talks. Chinese leaders pricked this by saying: "Japan can have peace anytime she wants it, by withdrawing from China."

Dog Meat Legalized.

During Germany's famine of World war days an agricultural expert advised Germans to "follow the example of Nebuchadnezzar and eat grass" . . . And a Dresden restaurant scored a coup by buying an elephant from a circus and providing steaks.

Now Germany has announced that the meat of dogs has been legalized and also that of bears, foxes, river wolves, and badgers.

Infantrymen's Future.

After Germany's blitzlined army swept over most of Western Europe last spring, critics here charged U. S. army officials with persisting in organizing our army along horse-and-bayonet lines.

Now the army has an answer. U. S. infantry tactics are being "revolutionized." No longer will doughboys be asked to go over the top in masses, present themselves as a broad target to machine gunners and fight their way forward only with the aid of rifle and bayonet.

Secretary of War Stimson says riflemen of the future will seek to penetrate "soft spots in the enemy formation." And the chief of infantry, Major General Lynch, adds that the rifleman will coordinate his movement with the supporting fire of big guns, planes and tanks. No attempt, he said, will be made to maintain "alignment" of advancing units.

* * *

Students' Scruples.

Eight young men preparing for the ministry at Union Theological Seminary didn't register for the draft in October. One was Bill Lovell, president of the student body. Their act being a felony under federal law, they were indicted.

In a tense, glum courtroom last week, their counsel contended: "They find in . . . the teachings of the Great Master . . . instructions to have nothing to do with the mass killing which is called war. . . ."

The judge—who said he would gladly moderate their sentences if they decided to register—sentenced each to a year and one day in jail.

In Short

Elected: Stephen Collins Foster, song writer who died thinking he was a failure, to the Hall of Fame. He was the only one of 141 nominated candidates this year to receive the required three-fifths vote of the college of electors.

Dismissed: Dale Maple, Harvard junior, from the Reserve Officers Training corps, after the college newspaper quoted him as saying, "Even a bad dictatorship is better than a good democracy." Maple insists he is not "pro-anything."

Died: Martin Beck, theatrical manager and producer; Dr. Raymond Pearl, Johns Hopkins university biologist; New York newsman Ralph Barnes, in a British plane crash, while covering the Italo-Greek war.

MINNEAPOLIS GIRL WEDS JOHN DINSMORE

Pair Exchange Nuptial Vows at Altar of Baptist Church In Minnesota City Friday Afternoon; Will Live Here.

WEARING a princess style gown cut with a full floor-length skirt, and topped by a short jacket made with long sleeves and a Peter Pan collar, Miss Marie Elizabeth Charles approached the altar of the Trinity Baptist church in Minneapolis, Minn., on the arm of her father yesterday at 4 p. m. With her wedding dress, Miss Charles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank E. Charles, Minneapolis, wore a fingertip length veil attached by means of an orange blossom halo. Her flowers were white carnations and gardenias.

The bride was attended by Miss Valerie Jean Litchke when she exchanged her vows with John Nicholson Dinsmore, 575 Woodhill road, son of Mrs. Laura A. Sifrit, London, O. The maid of honor wore a dusty rose slipper satin gown made with a sweetheart neck and full short sleeves. The gown was cut along princess lines with a full skirt. With her costume Miss Litchke wore a tiny hat of the same material, and a strand of pearls, a gift from the bride. Her flowers were blue and rose carnations.

Frederick Dinsmore, brother of the bridegroom, from Columbus, served as best man, and Jack Jurgens and Richard Charles, brother of the bride, both of Minneapolis, were the ushers.

Rev. Gerald Watkins, pastor of the church, officiated for the formal service, and Mrs. Lane, organist, played "At Dawning," by Cadman, "Liebestraum," by Liszt, and "O Promise Me," by DeKoven, in addition to the nuptial marches. "Ave Marie," by Schubert, was played during the ceremony.

The altar of the church was decorated with cybatium ferns and candelabra bearing lighted tapers for the afternoon marriage.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the bride's home for 100 guests. Yellow and white pompons and chrysanthemums were used as decorations. Later the couple left on a wedding trip to an unrevealed destination. For traveling Mrs. Dinsmore wore a rose wool sports dress and matching hat. The couple will be at home at 491 Lawn avenue after Dec. 1.

The bride attended the University of Minnesota and was a member of Gamma Phi Beta social sorority. She has been employed as assistant in the Sub-Deb sports department at the Dayton company in her home city. Mr. Dinsmore was graduated from Ohio State university and the Franklin Law school. He was a member of Phi Gamma Delta fraternity. He is an attorney-at-law, and is employed in the claim department of the Lumbermens Mutual Insurance company.

Guests present included Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Charles, Duluth, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Anderson, Milton, Wis.; Mr. and Mrs. C. Lane, Wadena, Minn.; Miss Marvel Welch, St. Cloud, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Conkey, Bloomington, Minn.; Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Dinsmore, Columbus; Mrs. Sifrit, London, and Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Cripps, Hutchinson, Minn.

Social Club Members Guests of Mrs. Diesem

Members of the Busy Bee club were the guests of Mrs. Mae Diesem, Marion avenue, last night when Mrs. Nellie Antes, assisted. Mrs. Clarence Dropsey was a guest. Bunco was played, and the prize winners were Mrs. Bessie Sheets, Mrs. Charles Wingert and Mrs. Earl Black, and the guest.

Refreshments were served buffet style from a table decorated with gourds, fruits and candles. The next meeting will be held Dec. 6 with Mrs. Sheets, North Mulberry street. Mrs. Wingert will be the associate hostess.

HOROSCOPE

For Sunday, November 24

Sunday's horoscope holds testimonies of a rather singular, sudden and probably breath-taking occurrence which may have its final denouement far into the future. Such visitation may be radical and thrilling in its peculiar nature and its happy culmination depends on much discretion, discernment and wise choice when confronted by dilemma.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a year of adventure and experience quite out of the routine. There may be dramatic, romantic or startling visitations reaching far into the years for their real significance. These should be met with wise decisions.

A child born on this day should possess remarkable talents, with originality, freedom from all conventions and regulations, independent in thought and action. These are supported by subtle insight, strong intuitions and marked ingenuity.

For Monday, November 25

Monday's astrological forecast is for a lively and enterprising day, with the energies and faculties under fine stimuli for success in new projects or where static conditions need aggressive and forceful readjustments. Push these with vigor and zest, especially in connection with well organized groups, but be alert to snares or petty treacheries.

Those whose birthday it is may look for a fair success, with matters of new interest or innovation in old methods under particularly enterprising sway. It is a time for pushing with aggression and initiative in combination with well founded groups, but with a keen eye to deception, intrigue or small trickeries.

A child born on this day should be forceful, resourceful, energetic and have much executive and constructive ability, alert, powerful and resolute.

Catholic Church Scene Of Early Morning Wedding

Another Thanksgiving wedding was that of Miss Elizabeth Virginia Gabor and John Eugene Weber, which was read at 9:30 a. m. Thursday before the altar of St. Peter's Catholic church with Rt. Rev. Msgr. R. C. Goebel officiating. Raymond Baum, church organist, played the nuptial mass.

Miss Gabor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Gabor, sr., 138 Blecker street, was attired in a gown of pure white transparent velvet and net. The full net skirt was attached to a fitted, shirred bodice of velvet, and flowers of the same material were appliqued to the skirt which ended in a medium length train. The frock was cut with a sweetheart neckline and bracelet length sleeves.

Miss Elizabeth Schadek served as maid of honor, and Miss Josephine Sherman was bridesmaid. Miss Schadek's gown was made in three shades of green ranging from citron to leaf, while Miss Sherman's was of three shades of dahlia ranging from pale orchid to deep dahlia. Both were made with extremely full tiered skirts with a girdled insert tied in a flat back bow. Sweetheart necklines and short puffed sleeves completed the designs. Both wore off-the-face style picture hats made in heart shapes and trimmed with ostrich tips and long streamers of matching velvet ribbons extending to the hems of the dresses.

As the bride reached the altar on the arm of her father she handed her bouquet of white chrysanthemums and pompons to her attendant. The maid of honor and the bridesmaid carried arm bouquets of lavender and bronze chrysanthemums.

Peter R. Gabor, brother of the bride, and Joseph J. Weber, brother of the bridegroom, attended Mr. Weber.

The bride is a graduate of St. Peter's parochial school, and has been employed at the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing company. Mr. Weber, son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Weiss, 335 Fifth avenue, also attended the St. Peter's schools, and he too is employed at the Westinghouse. Mr. and Mrs. Weber will be at home tomorrow at 335 Fifth avenue.

Friends Fete Couple At Evening Party

Last night when Mr. and Mrs. Joseph M. Johnston, Brae Burn road, entertained members of their card club at their new home, the guests surprised the couple with a gift of crystal and silver for their home. Mr. and Mrs. James Bailey were the prize winners.

Yellow pompons decorated the tables at which refreshments, carrying out the same shade, were served. Members of the club have played cards together for the past 17 years.

Can't Tell If He's In Love

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Some people don't recognize true love when it sneaks up on them with the stealth of a pickpocket. They seem to expect something in the way of the brass band or the blitzkreig known as love at first sight.

Here's a young man who has fallen for the subtle day-by-day influence brought about by propinquity—defined as "being on the spot." The young man and the girl he has fallen for have been thrown together in the same office for two years. The young man's letter follows:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"All summer I was looking forward to my cruise to see my brother in Florida, where we were going to do some hunting. I didn't stay long and returned in a couple of days for I was disappointed in the whole trip.

"Here's why: A year or two ago a girl came to work in our office. I wasn't a bit interested in her at first. She was reserved, didn't waste much time talking, and did her work very well. She wasn't as easy to get acquainted with as others, but after a while I began to see how beautiful she really was. Her features were regular, she had blonde hair and a mouth that looked as if it never could say anything cruel or unworthy.

"I didn't realize what a hold this girl was getting on me. I met her at office parties, and she always looked lovely in her fluffy evening dresses and was so nice to me. The day after, when in the office, she'd never refer to the party, but would be the same business-like and courteous person she always was. I resented this.

"I invited her out several times; sometimes she'd refuse and again she'd accept. I usually had a swell time, but I didn't like the way she held me off. I expected to kiss her goodnight as I do other girls when I take them out. But she just melted away, thanking me for a pleasant evening, but no kiss.

"I kept telling myself I didn't care for this girl, but the truth was I couldn't get her out of my mind. I looked forward to going to the office, and usually went out of my way to say something mean to her. But she just smiled and didn't answer—I just couldn't provoke her.

"I had been anticipating my leave from the office so that I could get away from her, but the loneliness of not seeing her—the flat, stale, profitless task of going through a day without her—was cruel. I stayed only two days and came back. Invited her to dinner and a show afterward. She accepted and I was really happy then.

"She didn't question my coming back sooner than expected; didn't tease me. There's nothing smart Alecky about this girl, thank goodness for that! I'm beginning to wonder if this is real love at last, or is it that diabolical thing called propinquity that some cynic has called "woman's chief charm?"

"Still, I ask myself the same old question—is this really love or is it fascination? And was the whole thing brought about by being thrown together in the same office?

B. R.

It seems to me that your name should be "Doubting Thomas." What greater assurance can you have than that you were so miserable when you were away from this girl that you came back to be near her? You love her sweet, quiet ways, and the fact that she's not the come-easy, go-easy type. She fills your life completely—what more do you want?

NEW YEAR DAY CHOICE OF MARTHA GIFFIN

Will Become Bride of Leonard H. Segar, Cleveland Heights, In Afternoon Ceremony Read In Mansfield.

TWELVE FRIENDS of Miss Martha Marcella Giffin learned of her approaching marriage to Leonard H. Segar of Cleveland Heights, when her mother and sister, Mrs. Earl G. Giffin and Miss Naomi Giffin, entertained at the family home, 121 Rae avenue, yesterday evening.

The wedding will be solemnized at 4:30 o'clock on New Year day at the Susie Janis home on the Park avenue west road. Mr. Segar is the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Segar of Cleveland Heights.

Bridge was played at three tables last evening, and when Miss Marianne Springer received the high score prize, she found that it contained a large red and white heart bearing the names of the couple and the date of their nuptials. Mrs. J. B. Kemp, jr., won the second award, and Miss Springer also received the traveling prize.

Luncheon was served after the games at the small tables, which were centered with miniature bouquets of white pompons and lighted with white tapers. Guests included members of Gamma chapter of Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority and Mrs. Jack Anthony.

The bride-elect is a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school and Miami university. While attending the latter school, she was a member of Alpha Omicron Pi, national social sorority. She teaches art in the public schools at Lebanon and is a member of Gamma chapter of the Gamma Gamma Gamma sorority.

Mr. Segar attended high school in Cleveland Heights and was graduated from Miami university too. He is a member of Sigma Alpha Epsilon, national social fraternity. He is employed as a salesman for the Remington-Rand company in Cleveland.

PLAY COOTIE.

Cootie was played last night when Mrs. Albert Brandt, 14 State street, opened her home to members of the Nitelark club. Prizes were won by Mrs. Norman Shewell and Mrs. R. H. McGregor. Following the business meeting refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Dec. 19 with Mrs. F. B. Thompson, 552 South Diamond street. This will be a Christmas exchange.

Menu for Sunday Night Supper

By BETSY NEWMAN

As a Sunday night supper or a menu to serve after the club card game, try a menu of cold cuts of meat with a molded fruit and nut salad. Serve dainty little homemade rolls (or baker's if you don't want to make them yourself), hot, with plenty of butter, and cookies and doughnuts for the final course. And I think you'll make a hit.

Today's Menu.

Cold Cuts of Meat
Brazil Nut and Pineapple Salad
Hot Rolls Olives
Pickled Peaches or Pears
Doughnuts Cookies Coffee

* * *

Black Walnut Circles.

Three cups flour, 1 teaspoon baking powder, ¼ teaspoon salt, 1¼ cups sugar, 3 eggs, 1 cup shortening, 1 teaspoon vanilla, ¾ cup black walnuts.

Sift dry ingredients together, chopped nuts, then add shortening, mixing with fork. Add unbeaten eggs and flavoring. Roll out very thin and cut with doughnut cutter. Bake at 375 degrees F. for 8 minutes. Makes 6 dozen cookies.

* * *

Brazil Nut and Pineapple Salad.

One envelope plain, unflavored gelatin, ¼ cup cold water, 1 cup pineapple juice, ½ cup lemon juice, ⅓ cup sugar, ½ cup salad dressing, 1 No. 2 can pieces pineapple, 2 pimentos, chopped, ½ cup chopped Brazil nuts.

Soften gelatin in water; dissolve sugar in boiling pineapple juice, and stir into gelatin with lemon juice. Cool and when thickened, whip with rotary beater and fold in salad dressing. Add remaining ingredients and pour into 8 x 8 x 2 inch pan. Chill. Cut in squares and serve on lettuce leaves. Top each square with a spoonful of salad dressing and sprinkle with additional Brazil nuts. Serves 8.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Sheriff, 110 Penn avenue, entertained Thanksgiving Day with a family dinner in honor of their 54th wedding anniversary. Children and grandchildren were guests for the dinner which was served at a table tastefully decorated with a floral centerpiece.

CHAPTER IV

Helen smiled. "He's a straight shooter, which is saying a lot for a Hollywood agent. He also knows his business. If Scottie tells you it's useless, you may as well pack your bags and take the next train."

Her heart smote her as she saw Glory's detailed preparations for this visit which she knew was foredoomed. But certainly the girl was beautiful. Her eyes shone like jewels from her haunting, heart-shaped face. Even in the simple homemade dress, her figure was slimly seductive. "The kid has class as well as beauty," Helen admitted and her heart ached for her because of the disillusionment she was soon to suffer.

When the girl at he desk in Scotie's office said, "All right, Miss Jamison, you may see Mr. Weston now," the actress could have wept at the look of dazzled radiance and delight Glory flashed upon her.

Scottie, heavy-set, with crisp curly blond hair and shrewd blue eyes, was talking over the telephone. Their entrance apparently was unnoticed.

"Sure, Mona, I know you're the greatest actress in the business," he said smoothly. "I'll fix it for you. Just leave it to me." Replacing the receiver, he sighed. "That woman is a hell-cat if ever I saw one."

Glory's heart was pounding. Did he mean the famous Mona Greer? But how could such a wonderful actress be what he had called her?

"This is Glory Stevens," Helen was saying.

Scottie's smile was magnetic but his blue eyes appraised the girl from head to foot as he asked, "Can you sing, dance, or by any chance act?"

Helen answered, dryly, "Sure, she can sing and dance. And she's had a lot of experience in local theatricals back in the Middle West where she came from."

Glory gasped. Was Helen making fun of her? After getting this appointment, was she going to let her down?

She said, "It's true, Mr. Weston, that I haven't had professional experience but my mother was an actress and I'm sure I can be one, too. It's in my blood. And there's no job too small for me to take if I can just get into a studio. You see, I have to make some money so I can stay."

Instead of laughing, as Helen expected, the man at the desk said brusquely, "You and thirty thousand others. Walk across the room a couple of times . . . that's enough. Now then sit down . . ."

Helen held her breath. The poor kid! It was cruel to give her all this build-up only to let her down . . .

"Can you sew?" inquired the agent.

Glory spread out her arms. "I made this dress."

"They may be able to use a girl in the wardrobe department at Sunset studios," Scottie suggested, avoiding Helen's glance. "That will give you something to do for the present. Until I can think of something better."

Helen gasped, but before she could speak Scottie was ushering them out.

"Okay! That's fine. I'll give you a ring tonight then."

Back on the street, Glory said anxiously, "I'm afraid he didn't like me."

"Like you?" Helen repeated, still dazed. "Oh, yes, Scottie liked you all right!"

"I'm grateful, of course," Glory was saying innocently, "But after all a job in the wardrobe department isn't exactly anything to write home about."

"That's what you think," Helen said. "Look, kid, it may be the worst thing that ever happened to you but you have just been given that break you've been talking about so much."

At nine o'clock that night when the telephone rang, Glory lifted the receiver to hear, "Okay, baby! You're to go to work at eight o'clock Monday morning!"

* * *

THE Sunset studio was not the beehive of activity that Glory had expected. Many of the streets were deserted except for a few worried looking individuals who scuttled in and out of buildings with preoccupied expressions. In the main office a group of ambitious mothers waited with their children, eyeing each other jealously. Out of the group of one hundred only three would be chosen, Helen told Glory. In front of the publicity department several men argued excitedly. Overhead the sky was a brilliant blue. As if it, too, were painted, Glory thought. They walked down a little French street which had been built for a recent picture. Glory said she'd have to stop to feel the cement to be sure it wasn't real.

Helen laughed. "Just take it for granted that everything is fake in this place."

There were no celebrities to be seen but Helen pointed out the sets where they were working. All were surrounded by impressive walls and marked NO ADMITTANCE. It seemed miles to Glory from the gate to the wardrobe department.

Helen showed her the chief designer's office. William Van Laningham, affectionately known as Van to his associates, was a "good egg" as Helen put it. "I'm not going in with you baby," she said, "but don't let them scare you out."

Glory clutched her pocketbook nervously. "Oh Helen, what if I'm not good enough? After all, I haven't had any professional sewing experience." For the first time, she had begun to doubt her ability to fit into the strange bustling pattern that was Hollywood.

Helen patted her arm. "Don't be afraid at this stage of the game, honey! Just make up your mind to bluff it through. That's the only way you'll get along in this town."

* * *

Van's office was startlingly decorated in beige and chartreuse. A streamlined mirror—topped desk occupied one end of the room. Costume sketches covered the walls. Sunshine streamed in from the floor-length windows and in the center of the room Van was sitting cross-legged, draping blue chiffon on a dummy. He was slight and blond, and his blue eyes had an absent stare as he looked at Glory.

"I'm Miss Stevens. Mr. Weston sent me," Glory faltered.

Van removed the pins from his mouth and regarded her without interest.

"Well? Well? Go into the next room and report to Miss Ross. She'll tell you what to do."

Glory wondered if she would ever cease to marvel at the casual way business was transacted in Hollywood. But as she turned to leave Van said, "Just a minute. Come back here!"

He rose and, gathering up the blue chiffon, draped it about Glory's shoulders. He was a small man with beautifully shaped hands which seemed to work swift magic with the gossamerlike material. Glory felt embarrassed but she turned and posed as he directed.

He admired his work from all angles, then quickly undraped the material and said impersonally, "You are one of the most beautiful girls I have ever seen."

Glory's cheeks flushed with pleasure. She had never thought of herself as beautiful. It was important however, that other people thought so; she was going to be an actress. But by the time she had put on her hat Van seemed to have forgotten her. Back at the dummy, he was again absorbed in his work.

"Pitfalls of Love"

(A Sequel to Marriage Meddlers)

By ADELE GARRISON

"NOW, Mrs. Ticer," my father went on, "I want to tax your memory some more. I am going to ask you to describe this man's appearance, and that of the driver, if you saw him at all."

"I only had a glimpse of the driver," she said, "so I don't know whether he was dark or light, or what. But he was a big man. I saw that. He was a lot more above the wheel than Jerry is."

"Then we'll take the man," my father said. "First, was he tall or short?"

"Tall," she replied.

"How tall?—that is compared with Mr. Graham and Mr. Underwood?"

Mrs. Ticer considered a second or two. "He wasn't as tall as Mr. Underwood," she said, "but then nobody is," and I knew she was visioning Harry Underwood's six feet three of height and his powerful muscles and frame.

"But he was a mite taller than Mr. Graham," she added.

"How did he compare in size with Mr. Graham?" my father asked next.

"He was a little thinner than Mr. Graham, but he was like him a lot, shoulders, waist, hips, the straight way he carried himself."

"The athletic type," my father commented, and Mrs. Ticer gave an alert answer.

"Yes, he was like a football player, only he didn't have such powerful shoulders. He was more like a tennis player or a runner."

My father turned to me with a deprecating gesture.

"My dear," he said, "I forgot to tell you that I wish you to memorize this description. Do you wish Mrs. Ticer to repeat anything?"

"No, I have it all," I told him quietly.

"I thought your memory would not fail me," he said, with the smile he always has for me, no matter how absorbed he is in some problem, and then he turned back to Mrs. Ticer.

"Was this man decidedly dark, decidedly fair, or of medium coloring?" he asked.

"He was very dark," she said, "with hair as black as Mr. Underwood's used to be. His hair wasn't curly, but there was just enough of a wave in it to make it look awful nice. And his eyes were big and black. And he was awful good-looking, too, the kind the girls all fall for, looked as if he could dance the clock around. But his nose wasn't so good, and he had an awful mean look in his eyes. I don't know what got into Marion that she couldn't see what he was."

"Perhaps she did, Mrs. Ticer," I said, with quick defense of the girl we all love so dearly. "Remember, we don't know anything about this, or why she's with this man."

"And in the meantime, we must try to find that out as quickly as we can," my father reminded me, and, flushing hotly, I returned to my attentive listening.

"What do you mean by saying that his nose wasn't so good?" my father asked.

"Why, it was a little bit to one side."

"Which side?" my father asked quickly, and again I had the impression that he was not asking a new description, but checking one he already knew.

Mrs. Ticer put her hand up to her own nose.

"The right side," she said at last, and my father nodded imperceptibly.

"It looked as if it had been broken and set again," she added, "and there was the queerest long scar beside it, as if a sharp knife had cut right down it. But of course, that would make him more attractive to a girl with fool movie ideas in her head."

My soul cried out in protest against the opinion of Marion which Mrs. Ticer was evidently cherishing, but I was silent, and my father's voice uttered a quiet satisfied "Ah!" that told me he was sure of the identity of Marion's sinister escort.

"How was he dressed?" he asked.

"Right bang up in the swellest rig," she said. "Grey suit, grey hat, grey gloves, everything top notch, a lot better than poor Miss Marion."

The shrilling of the telephone interrupted [illegible] and I dashed to it, wild to hear any possible news from my [illegible]

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

"The Authority on Authorities"

BEWARE OF CROSS-RUFF

When the two defenders have bid different suits, there is grave danger of a cross-ruff if you play the hand in a suit contract, especially a slam. It is well to think about trying No Trumps instead of your best suit in such a situation, as nobody has yet been known to ruff a trick in that declaration.

If South had been warned by the bidding and the double, he might have taken it out into the safe refuge of 6-No Trumps, in which you couldn't stop him from getting twelve tricks.

West interpreted the double as meaning East wanted the unnatural lead of the dummy's first-bid suit, especially since everything indicated him to have something in it. North had not rebid it, South had not supported it, and West himself had only one card, so East must have something worthwhile in spades. He therefore led the singleton to East's A and the latter returned the spade 9, a high card to indicate he wanted a lead of the higher ranking of the two side suits.

When West ruffed that second trick, he followed instructions with a lead of the heart 6. East trumping and thus setting the contract two. It could have been set still one more trick if West had been clairvoyant enough to open a heart.

South called it hard luck when he was beaten by the cross-ruff, but the others called it bad bridge, because he should not have played the hand at his suit, following some very unskilled bidding on his own part.

Your Week-End Lesson.

Do you understand the play which is universally called the "grand coup?" Do you know how to recognize the situations in which such a play is necessary to make your contract? Can you set up working examples of a single, double and triple "grand coup?"

Two Decisive Games Highlight Today's Grid Schedule

Season Nears Finish

Penn-Cornell, Mississippi State-Mississippi Tilts Are Leading Ones.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK — (AP) — The football season isn't over yet by several dozen games, but today, for the first time, it gets down to the stage where the fans can concentrate on a few all-important contests.

* * *

The Big Ten season ends with Minnesota, already crowned champion, seeking to complete a perfect season against Wisconsin. Except for next week's classic Army-Navy tilt and a few other big ones, eastern football winds up its activities; the South's major conference titles should be decided and probably those in a few other sectors.

* * *

Oddly enough, only two really decisive games are on today's list and they're not ones to settle the question of national supremacy. They are Penn-Cornell at Philadelphia and Mississippi State-Mississippi at State college.

The first will settle the mythical championship of the "Ivy league," but it won't decide the equally mythical eastern championship unless something happens to Boston college, which plays Auburn. Cornell looked by far the strongest team in the East until Dartmouth proved the Big Red team could be beaten—even though it took a couple of days of doubt before the final score was agreed upon. Penn, beaten only by Michigan, still appears to be second best in the "Ivy" group and some 78,000 fans are looking for a classic battle between these two.

Mississippi, beaten only by Arkansas, and Mississippi State, unbeaten but tied by Auburn, both have chances to figure in the Southeastern conference title race. Ole Miss, if victorious, can claim a part interest, even if unbeaten and untied Tennessee should follow form and whip Kentucky at Knoxville. State's only chance lies in an upset by the Wildcats which doesn't appear entirely impossible.

The backgrounds that make today's other big games important are different, but none the less compelling.

At the top comes the 59th Yale-Harvard fuss. That's been a major game since grandpa's time and it's not going to stop just because both teams have had miserable seasons this year.

While Minnesota closes its Big Ten campaign against Wisconsin the other conference teams take on favored rivals. Michigan plays Ohio State, Iowa meets Illinois, Purdue tackles Indiana and Northwestern encounters Notre Dame.

* * *

Nebraska can clinch at least a tie for the Big Six crown by whipping weak Iowa State while its rival, Oklahoma, marks time with an intersectional tilt with Temple.

* * *

In the Southern conference Clemson [illegible] Furman, as expected [illegible]

Film at Ohio Shows 'Famous' Fifth Down

Mansifeld football fans will have an opportunity to see Cornell's now famous illegal "fifth down" in last week's game with Dartmouth beginning today at the Ohio theater. The films are a part of the news-reel, and are Dartmouth's official pictures of the game which were responsible for Cornell conceding the game to Dartmouth. Slow motion pictures will show the big Red of Cornell drive to a touchdown in five plays. The film opens today at the Ohio and continues for four days, Bill Dworski, manager, announced.

As Fordham Ripped Arkansas

Fordham's once-defeated Rams, seeking a bowl bid, continue on their successful way with a 27 to 7 Turkey day victory over the University of Arkansas team in New York. Len Eshmont, Fordham back, takes a short lateral from Filipowicz, 25, in this action shot of the game.

Buckeyes Underdogs Against Michigan

COLUMBUS —(AP)— In the first sell-out game for Ohio stadium in nine games, the Ohio State university Buckeyes play the Michigan University Wolverines today in the 37th renewal of one of the gridiron's greatest rivalries.

* * *

A homecoming crowd of more than 72,000 persons is assured for the classic contest which closes the season for both schools. In their 36 previous meetings, Michigan won 24, Ohio State 10, and two were ties.

* * *

Feature attraction for most fans is the anticipated duel between Ohio State's highly rated quarterback, Don Scott, and Michigan's all-American halfback, Tom Harmon. Both will be making their last collegiate appearance.

Other stars to be lost through next spring's graduation include Capt. Forest Evashevski, Ed Frutig, Joe Rogers and Ralph Fritz of Michigan, and Capt. Jimmy Langhurst, Claude White, Bill Nosker, Charlie Maag, Frank Clair and Jim Strausbaugh of Ohio State.

Harmon, with 30 touchdowns to his credit in his three years with the Wolverines, has only to score one touchdown against Ohio State to equal the three-year record of Harold "Red" Grange, the Illinois immortal who crossed the goal line 31 times.

* * *

In seven games this year, Harmon already has scored 13 touchdowns and kicked a field goal and 14 extra points.

* * *

The Buckeyes tapered off with a light drill yesterday and then retired for the night at the Columbus Country Club, far from the homecoming festivities on the campus. The Michigan team spent the night in Toledo.

WOOSTER — Mike Horvath, a freshman here at Wooster college from Mansfield, will be awarded his numerals as a member of the yearling football squad, according to Coach E. M. Hole. Only fourteen numerals will be awarded. Horvath played in the backfield.

The freshman football squad lost to the sophomores 6 to 2 in the football game November 19 which officially brought to an end the grid season at Wooster.

Wooster's freshman football squad will be among the guests at Wooster's 26th annual athletic banquet to be held November 28.

The protest was based on the fact that field lights were not available during the closing minutes of the game, Griffith said.

Lew Jenkins Is A Real Champion

Texan Looks Great When He Can Clout His Opponent; Gives Lello the Works.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Give Lew Jenkins a man he can hit and the skinny ex-cavalryman from Sweetwater, Tex., still looks like a great lightweight champion.

In the first defense of his 135-pound title since he stopped Lou Ambers last summer, Lew gave Pete Lello of Chicago the works in the Garden last night.

* * *

He knocked the Chicago boy down four times with sickening swipes to the jaw, and Referee Art Donovan didn't bother to count on the fourth occasion. He gathered the outclassed Lello in his arms to save his life. That was at 2:37 of the second round.

* * *

At least, last night's result was clean-cut and stylish. Jenkins, looking lean and hungry at 131¼ pounds, slapped Lello to the canvas with the first clean punch he landed in the second round.

It was a powerful left hook to the chin, and it settled the fight.

Lello, who probably is wondering today what became of the Jenkins he knocked out in Chicago in 1939, managed to get back on his pins at the count of nine.

But he ran into another barrage of lefts and rights that smacked him down again and again. He was helpless when Donovan finally took pity.

Two Grapplers Tangle In Semi-Final Match.

Tony Leone and Burt Ruby have been secured by Promoter Bob Steele to battle in the semi-final of his weekly wrestling show at the Saprano-Doehla Athletic club Monday night. It will be a two-out-of-three fall match with an hour time limit.

In the main event, the "Black Panther" will go against Martini Angelo. This is a two-out-of-three fall match with an hour-and-a-half time limit.

Speedy Martin of Flint, Mich., has been named by Steele to appear in the preliminary bout. His opponent will be named Monday.

Crestline Girl Serves In 'Court' of Queen

Miss Sara Lightburn of Crestline will be one of five Ohio State university co-eds to serve as attendants to the queen during today's homecoming football game between Ohio State and Michigan at Columbus. The queen, Miss Louise Dinger, of Canton, a junior, defeated five other candidates for the title in a student election, and was at the homecoming dance last night. Her five opponents will accompany the queen in the game as her court.

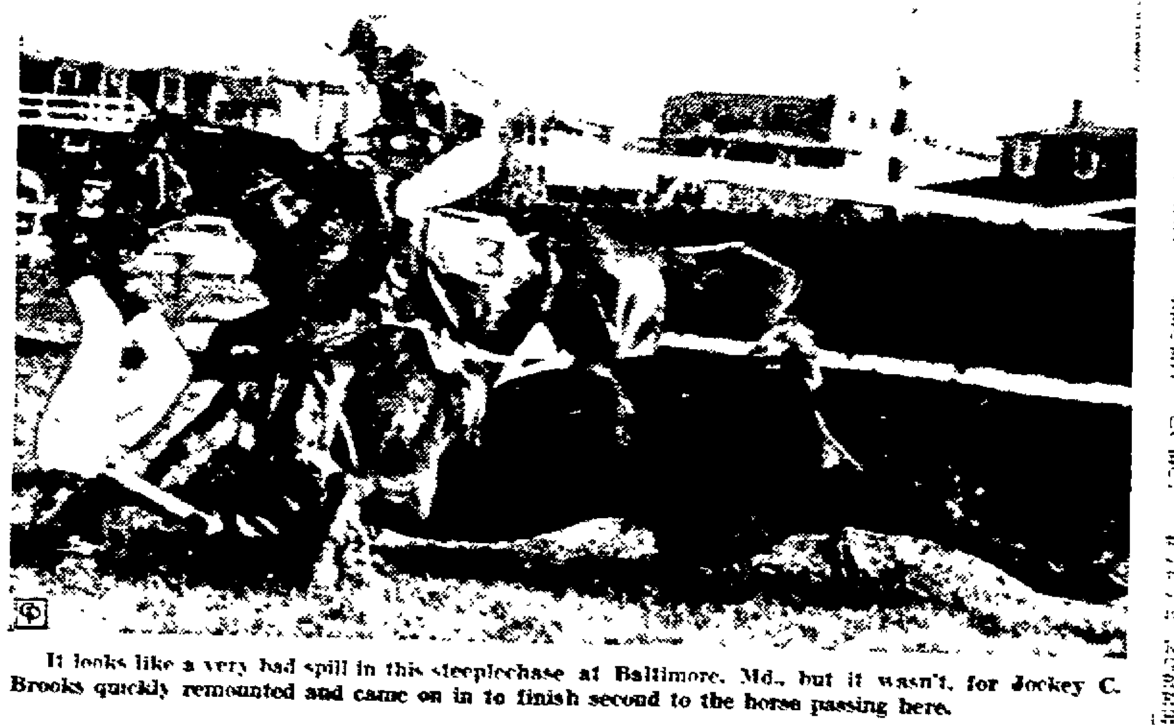
TO DISCUSS PRACTICE OF STAFFS WORKING GAMES

LORAIN —(INS)— A proposed ruling that members of athletic staffs of Ohio conference schools be ineligible to work football and basketball games in which competing institutions are league schools will be discussed at the Ohio athletic conference meeting in Cleveland, Dec. 6, it was announced today by George Daniel loop commissioner.

DISCUSS CAGE RULES.

High school basketball coaches will gather at Ontario high school at 7:30 p. m. Monday for a rules discussion to be conducted by "Red" Longley, of Ashland. All coaches and officials in this district are invited to attend the session.

Bad Spill? No, Jockey Finishes Second



It looks like a very bad spill in this steeplechase at Baltimore, Md., but it wasn't, for Jockey C. Brooks quickly remounted and came on in to finish second to the horse passing here.

SECOND BUCK DEER FOUND KILLED IN ERIE COUNTY

SANDUSKY—(AP)—The second buck deer illegally killed in Erie county in a week was reported by Deputy Game Protector H. D. Hutter. The deer was found on the farm of C. G. Carlson, two miles south of Vermilion. The meat was spoiled. Children at the Erie county children's home feasted Thanksgiving day on the meat of the first deer killed last Monday near Castalia.

RESOLUTION NO. 40-185

By MR. KYLE:

Declaring it necessary to improve Linden Road and Paxford Place, to-wit: Linden Road from Maumee Avenue to Paxford Place and Paxford Place from Linden Road to Trimble Road by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

Be It Resolved by the Council of the City of Mansfield, State of Ohio, of all Members elected thereto concurring:

Sec. 1. That it is necessary to improve Linden Road and Paxford Place, to-wit: Linden Road from Maumee Avenue to Paxford Place and Paxford Place from Linden Road to Trimble Road by the construction of an 8 inch sanitary sewer therein.

Sec. 2. That the plans, specifications, estimates and profiles of the proposed improvement heretofore prepared by the City Civil Engineer and now on file in the office of the Department of Public Service, be and the same are hereby approved.

Sec. 3.—That the whole cost of said improvement, less one-fiftieth of the total cost shall be assessed in proportion to the benefits resulting from the improvement upon the following described lots and lands to-wit: all lots and lands bounding and abutting upon the proposed improvement which said lots and lands are hereby determined to be specifically benefitted by said improvement; and the cost of said improvement shall include the expense of printing, publishing and serving the necessary legal notices, the printing and publishing of the necessary resolutions and ordinances, the cost of construction and inspection together with interest on bonds issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred assessments, and all other necessary expenditures.

Sec. 4.—That the assessments so to be levied shall be paid in three annual installments, with interest on deferred payments at the same rate as borne by the bonds to be issued therefor; provided that the owner of any property assessed may, at his option, pay such assessment in cash within thirty days from and after the passage of the assessing ordinance in which case said cash assessment shall not include any item of interest upon bonds to be issued in anticipation of the collection of deferred installments of assessments.

Sec. 5.—That bonds of the City of Mansfield shall be issued in anticipation of the collection of assessments by installments and in an amount equal thereto.

Sec. 6.—That the remainder of the entire cost of said improvement, not specially assessed, together with the cost of any real estate or interest therein, purchased or appropriated, and the cost and expense of any appropriation proceeding therefor, and the damages awarded any owner of adjoining or abutting lands and interest thereon, and the cost and expense of such award shall be paid by the City of Mansfield, Ohio, in the manner provided by law.

Sec. 7.—This resolution shall take effect and be in force from and after the earliest period allowed by law.

Passed November 5, 1940.

Blue jay "valets" are doing a nice job of keeping the deer of the Santa Barbara mountains contented, according to foresters of the Los Pedros National Forest, California. As the animals emerge from the brush each morning to drink and browse, the jays fly from neighboring trees and go briskly to work removing the ticks which infest the deer.

Despite much scientific investigation, nothing is known of the spawning of the sailfish and his cousin the swordfish. Neither of these game fish are ever caught in a spawning condition, and it is rare to catch a sailfish under three feet long. Where they spawn and where the young spend their time is still one of the great mysteries of the ocean.

"Go tattoo a snake" might be a wisecracking admonition, but it's serious business to the field men stationed at a wildlife refuge at Crescent Lake, Nebraska. The snakes raid wild duck nests and eat the eggs, so special traps are used to capture the snakes, after which they are tattooed to determine their range of wandering. To date more than 700 bull snakes have been captured and tattooed, according to American Wildlife Institute.

DEATH TAKES ASHLAND MAN ILL ONE YEAR

Heart Attack Fatal to Edgar A. M'Dowell, Retired Myers Employe.

ASHLAND—Edgar Allen McDowell, 65, died at his home, 707 Center street at 4:50 p. m. Friday from a heart attack following an illness of more than a year.

A native of Ashland he attended Ashland high school and after being associated with his brother in a newspaper agency entered the employ of the F. E. Myers & Brother company at the age of 17 where he continued until forced by ill health to retire a year ago. For many years he had been head of the purchasing and production departments.

He was the son of Alexander and Harriette Pierce McDowell. His father pioneered from the east at an early age and was owner of the Flax Mill here. In July of 1899 he married Cleo Brubaker who preceded him in death in 1937.

He had been a member of the old Colonial club which was the predecessor of the present Chamber of Commerce, and was a member of the Presbyterian church.

One brother, Percy McDowell of Palo Alto, California and a foster son, Ezra Koons at home, survive.

The body will remain at the Denbow-Bear funeral home until 10 a. m. Monday when it will be removed to the late residence where the services will be held Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Rev. H. E. Andrews, D. D. of the Presbyterian church will officiate. Burial will be made in Ashland cemetery. It is requested that flowers be omitted.

dle east and exposing the reich to the possibility of war on two fronts.

War on two fronts, they pointed out, is the thing that Hitler heretofore has done his utmost to avoid.

Speculation in London regarding the extent and the timing of German intervention in the Italo-Greek conflict ranged over a wide variety of conjectures, most of them the merest guesswork in the absence of real information.

Many informed circles believed, however, that Hitler cannot afford to have his flank exposed and cannot afford to have the Axis "ridiculed."

Therefore, they predicted, he will act quickly to "rescue Mussolini."

Russia Denies Pact Approval

LONDON —(U.P.)— A denial by Tass, the official Russian news agency, that Russia had approved Hungary's joining the Axis powers, was interpreted by diplomats here today as an indication that Josef Stalin was refusing to take part in Adolf Hitler's proposed "new European order."

Some diplomats construed it as an indication that Russia would view Bulgaria's adherence to the Axis unfavorably.

(Tass' statement, given at Moscow, read: "The American United Press agency reports that according to the assertion of the German newspaper Hamburger Fremdenblatt, Hungary's adherence to the three-power pact allegedly was reached 'with the cooperation and full approval of the Soviet Union.' Tass is authorized to state that this report does not correspond with the facts in any extent.")

The diplomatic writer of the London Daily Telegraph said that "a report from Sofia that Russia has advised the Bulgarian government not to join the Axis is in line with information reaching London from a variety of sources to the effect that Germany has decided to take steps to extricate Italy from her humiliating operations against Greece."

Bulgaria Waits Russian Word

SOFIA, Bulgaria—(U.P.)—Well informed sources believed today that King Boris, at his conference with Adolf Hitler last Sunday, had declared Bulgaria's unwillingness to sign a pact with the Axis powers or to enter the war unless Russia also enters or specifically approves Bulgaria's entry.

It was believed, however, that the signal for some new diplomatic if not military activity in southeast Europe had been given by the return to Ankara, Turkey, of the German ambassador, Franz Von Papen.

HIT BY CAR

Galion Woman Hospitalized For Shock, Bruises.

GALION — Evelyn Beegle of 411 Harding Way East, was admitted to the Good Samaritan hospital, Friday evening, for treatment for injuries received when she was struck by an automobile at 4:15 p. m.

The accident occurred as she was walking across the street at the intersection of Harding Way East and South streets. Police said a car driven by Frank Shockley of the South street road, struck her. Shockley was coming from the east on Harding way and making a left-hand turn on to South street.

An ambulance took Mrs. Beegle to the hospital where she was treated for shock and bruises. No other injuries could be determined immediately.

WIDOW DIES

Lenora Crowner Succumbs; Rites Set For Monday.

Mrs. Lenora Alta Crowner, widow of Curtis Crowner, died last night at her home at 71 North Foster street, following a lingering illness.

Born in St. Charles, Ill., she spent most of her life in Mansfield. She was a member of the First Methodist church.

Funeral services will be held at 4 p. m. Monday at the Wappner funeral home with Rev. E. G. Corwin, pastor of the First Methodist church, officiating. Burial will be in the Mansfield cemetery. The body will be at the Crowner residence until Monday morning.

Surviving are a daughter, Mrs. Jessie Shambaugh, Mansfield, and two sisters, Mrs. Olive Perkins of Chicago and Mrs. Grace Pulver, Aurora, Ill.

GALION COUPLE MARRIED TODAY

Marjorie Spiggle Becomes Bride of Raymond Unterwagner.

GALION—At a quarter of nine this morning, Marjorie Pauline Spiggle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John W. Spiggle of Gill avenue, and Raymond Unterwagner, son of Mrs. Anna Ryan, also of Galion, exchanged marriage vows at the parsonage of St. Patrick's Catholic church. The single ring ceremony was read by Rev. William Killoran.

Royal blue crepe with velvet trim fashioned the bride's street length dress, and her accessories were in black. She wore a gardenia corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Myers, brother-in-law and sister of the bridegroom, were the only attendants. Mrs. Myers wore a gold colored dress with brown velvet trim, and her accessories were brown. Pink roses were used in her corsage.

Immediately the couple left for a short wedding trip. They will live in a newly furnished apartment at 112½ West Church street.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Unterwagner were graduated from Galion high school, and both are employed at the Stratbury Manufacturing company.

FAILS TO STOP AFTER ACCIDENT

SHELBY—Charged with failing to stop following a traffic accident, Frank Ruckman, jr., 24, of this city was fined $10 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the Richland county jail in Mayor W. R. Morris's court Friday.

Mayor Morris suspended the jail sentence provided Ruckman pays his fine and costs, as well as damages to a parked car his car ran into, by Nov. 29.

Arrested by Shelby police Thursday night after his car had hit a parked car owned by Duane Hadley, Ruckman pleaded guilty in court Friday.

British Aerial Attacks Described

ROME —(U.P.)— British attacks from the air on key Italian positions in north and east Africa and a new raid on the Italian Adriatic naval base at Bari were described in a communique issued by Italian general headquarters today.

On the Albanian front, Italian forces which retreated from Koritza under heavy Greek attacks, have reached new positions, the communique said, and Italian airplanes yesterday concentrated on attacking the Greeks to cover the withdrawal.

British attacks on Libya admittedly were heavy and included raids on the seaplane base at Bomba and the supply bases at Derna and Port Bardia.

British planes also bombed Italian positions at Kassala, in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan across the border from Eritrea.

Italian planes bombed British positions near Gallabat in the Anglo-Egyptian Sudan across the border from Ethiopia. Port Sudan also was bombed.

7 Axis Planes Bagged by RAF

LONDON —(AP)— A squadron of Spitfires today shot down seven Italian fighters and one German fighter in the Strait of Dover without loss to themselves, it was stated authoritatively, as Axis raiders made two daylight thrusts at London.

The raiders renewed their attacks after an intense overnight hammering of two West Midlands manufacturing cities in which a record number of planes appeared over that "workshop" area of Britain.

Churches, hospitals, convents and many dwellings and other buildings were riddled, British reports said, and piles of debris littered the two Midlands towns after the severe 11-hour attack.

Casualties were believed heavy. Rescue and fire fighting squads worked until daybreak quenching fires and digging out trapped victims.

Fascist Planes Attack Greeks

ROME—(INS)—Fascist warplanes blasted Greek troops in the streets of Koritza while Italian troops "carried through movements into new positions as planned," it was officially announced today.

Street crossings, troop concentrations and enemy positions were bombed in the Koritza raid from which all Italian planes returned.

Italian planes carried out new assaults back of British positions at Gallabat and at Port Sudan.

DEFENSE ORDERS

DETROIT —(AP)— A prediction that war and national defense orders aggregating $12,500,000 will give employment to 5,800,000 additional workers and raise the annual national income to $102,000,000,000 within the next 18 months was made last night by John D. Biggers, executive assistant to William S. Knudsen on the national defense advisory commission.

He estimated Great Britain's war materials orders in this country amounted to $2,422,000,000.

Charter Member Of Shelby K. P. Dies At Newark

SHELBY—William D. Payne, 83, died Friday morning at the home of his daughter, Mrs. L. J. Vanasdale, in Newark after a lingering illness.

Before moving to Newark 14 years ago, Mr. Payne had made his home north of Shelby in Plymouth township. He was a charter member of the Knights of Pythias lodge.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Vanasdale and Mrs. Mary Fields, both of Newark; one son, Grover Payne of West Salem, O.; and 14 grandchildren and 17 great-grandchildren.

Funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. Monday at the Greenlawn cemetery in Plymouth, O.

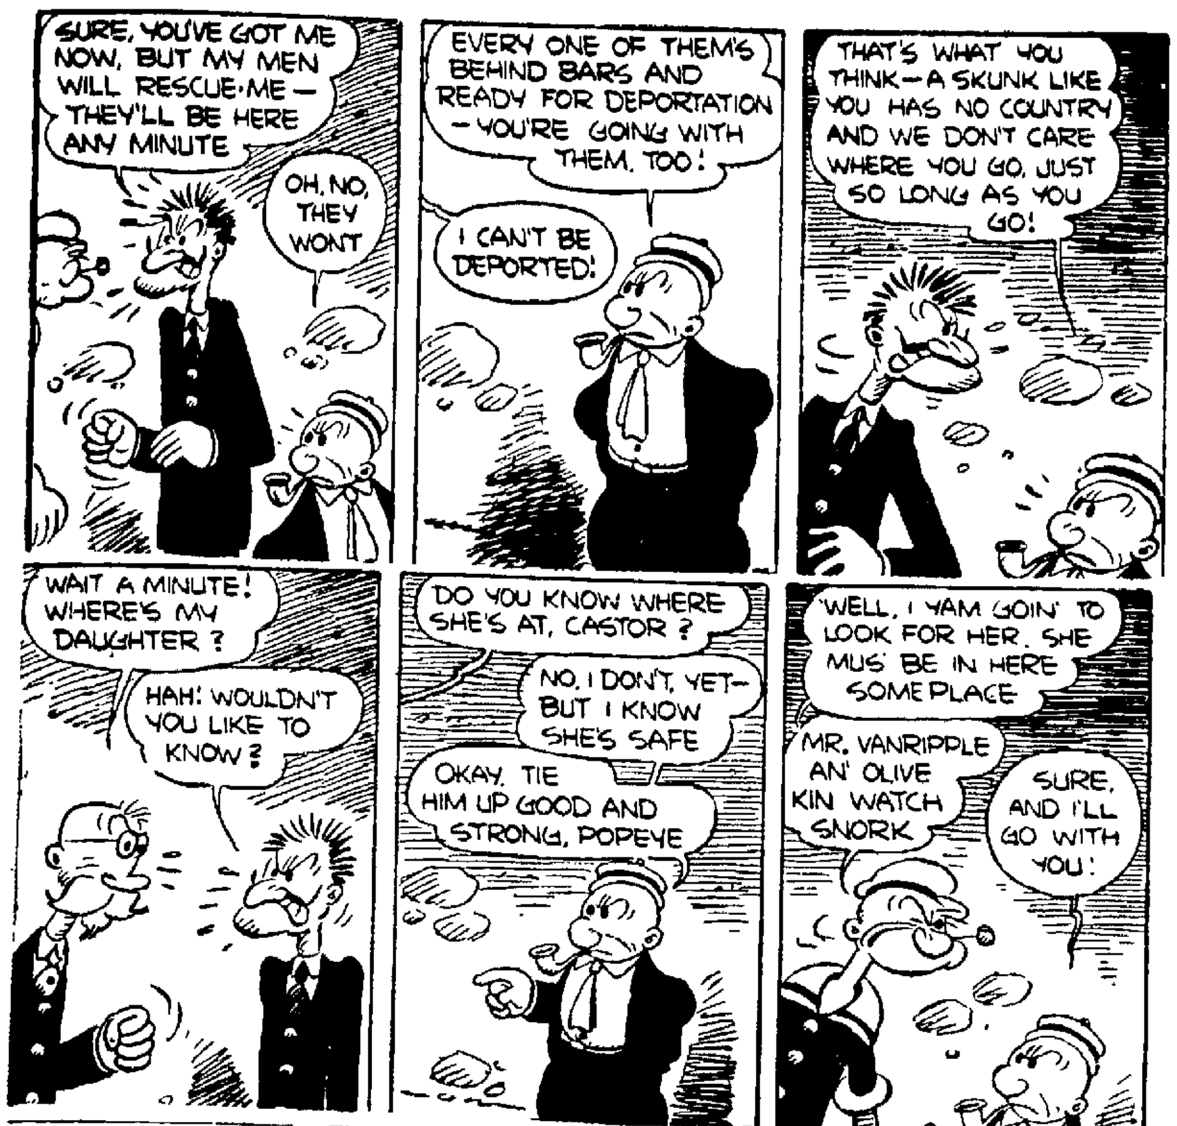
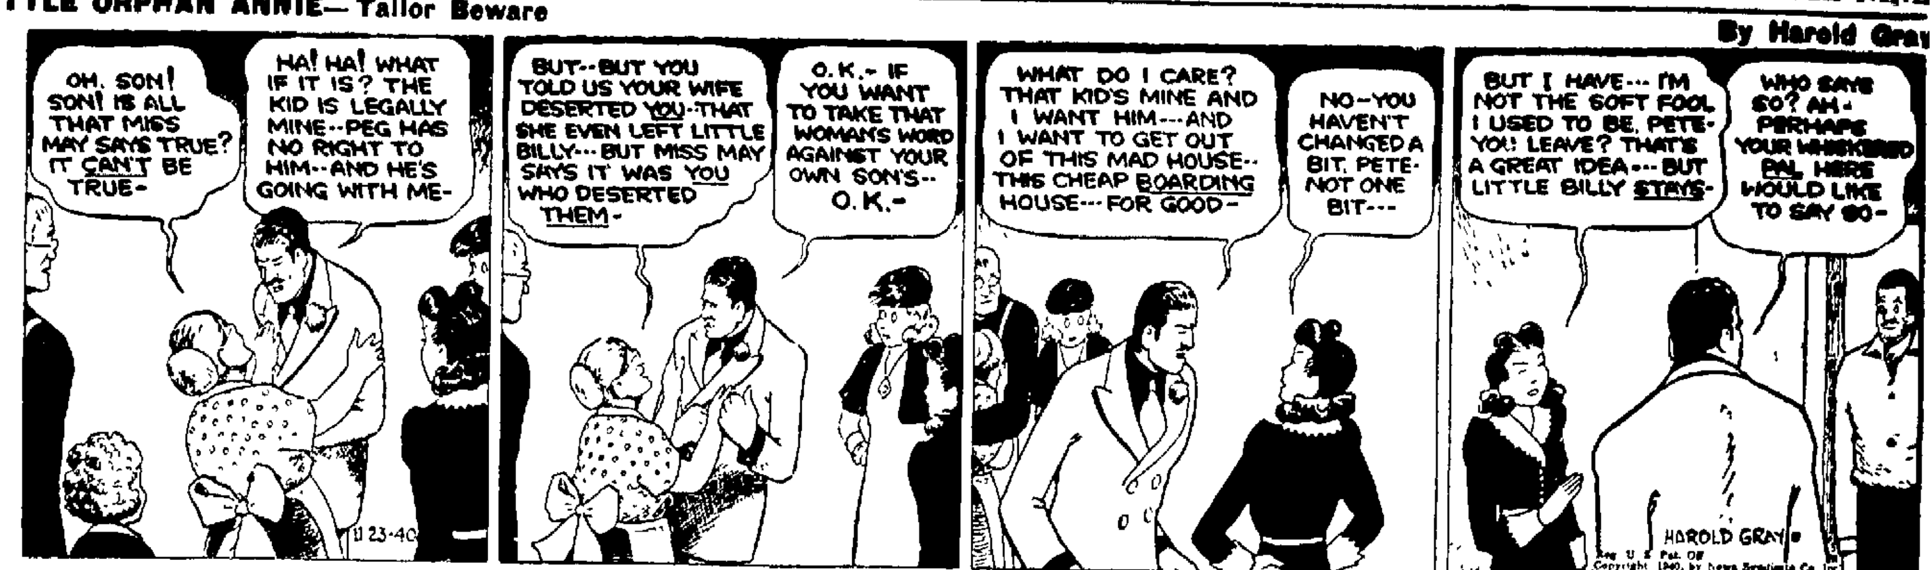
POPEYE— Come Out, Wherever You Are!



SURE, YOU'VE GOT ME NOW, BUT MY MEN WILL RESCUE ME— THEY'LL BE HERE ANY MINUTE
OH, NO, THEY WON'T
EVERY ONE OF THEM'S BEHIND BARS AND READY FOR DEPORTATION —YOU'RE GOING WITH THEM, TOO!
I CAN'T BE DEPORTED!
THAT'S WHAT YOU THINK—A SKUNK LIKE YOU HAS NO COUNTRY AND WE DON'T CARE WHERE YOU GO, JUST SO LONG AS YOU GO!
WAIT A MINUTE! WHERE'S MY DAUGHTER?
HAH! WOULDN'T YOU LIKE TO KNOW?
DO YOU KNOW WHERE SHE'S AT, CASTOR?
NO, I DON'T, YET— BUT I KNOW SHE'S SAFE
OKAY, TIE HIM UP GOOD AND STRONG, POPEYE
WELL, I YAM GOIN' TO LOOK FOR HER. SHE MUS' BE IN HERE SOME PLACE
MR. VANRIPPLE AN' OLIVE KIN WATCH SNORK
SURE, AND I'LL GO WITH YOU!

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE— Tailor Beware

By Harold Gray



OH, SON! SON! IS ALL THAT MISS MAY SAYS TRUE? IT CAN'T BE TRUE-
HA! HA! WHAT IF IT IS? THE KID IS LEGALLY MINE--PEG HAS NO RIGHT TO HIM--AND HE'S GOING WITH ME-
11-23-40
BUT--BUT YOU TOLD US YOUR WIFE DESERTED YOU-THAT SHE EVEN LEFT LITTLE BILLY---BUT MISS MAY SAYS IT WAS YOU WHO DESERTED THEM-
O.K.- IF YOU WANT TO TAKE THAT WOMAN'S WORD AGAINST YOUR OWN SON'S-- O.K.-
WHAT DO I CARE? THAT KID'S MINE AND I WANT HIM---AND I WANT TO GET OUT OF THIS MAD HOUSE-- THIS CHEAP BOARDING HOUSE---FOR GOOD-
NO-YOU HAVEN'T CHANGED A BIT, PETE- NOT ONE BIT---
BUT I HAVE--- I'M NOT THE SOFT FOOL I USED TO BE, PETE- YOU! LEAVE? THAT'S A GREAT IDEA---BUT LITTLE BILLY STAYS-
WHO SAYS SO? AH- PERHAPS YOUR WHISKERED PAL HERE WOULD LIKE TO SAY SO-

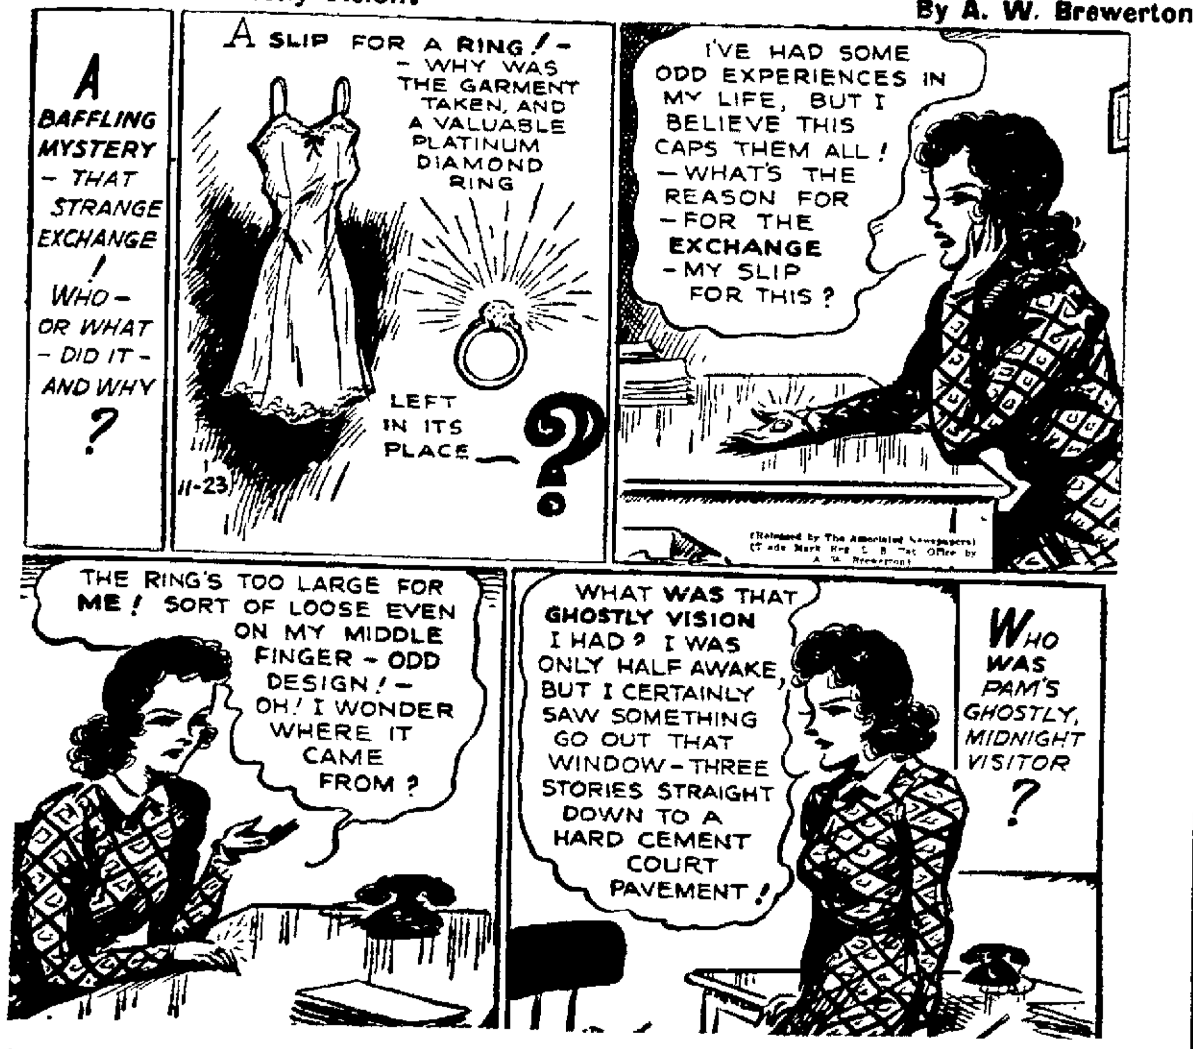
PAM— That Ghostly Vision!

By A. W. Brewerton



A BAFFLING MYSTERY – THAT STRANGE EXCHANGE! WHO – OR WHAT – DID IT – AND WHY?
A SLIP FOR A RING! – – WHY WAS THE GARMENT TAKEN, AND A VALUABLE PLATINUM DIAMOND RING
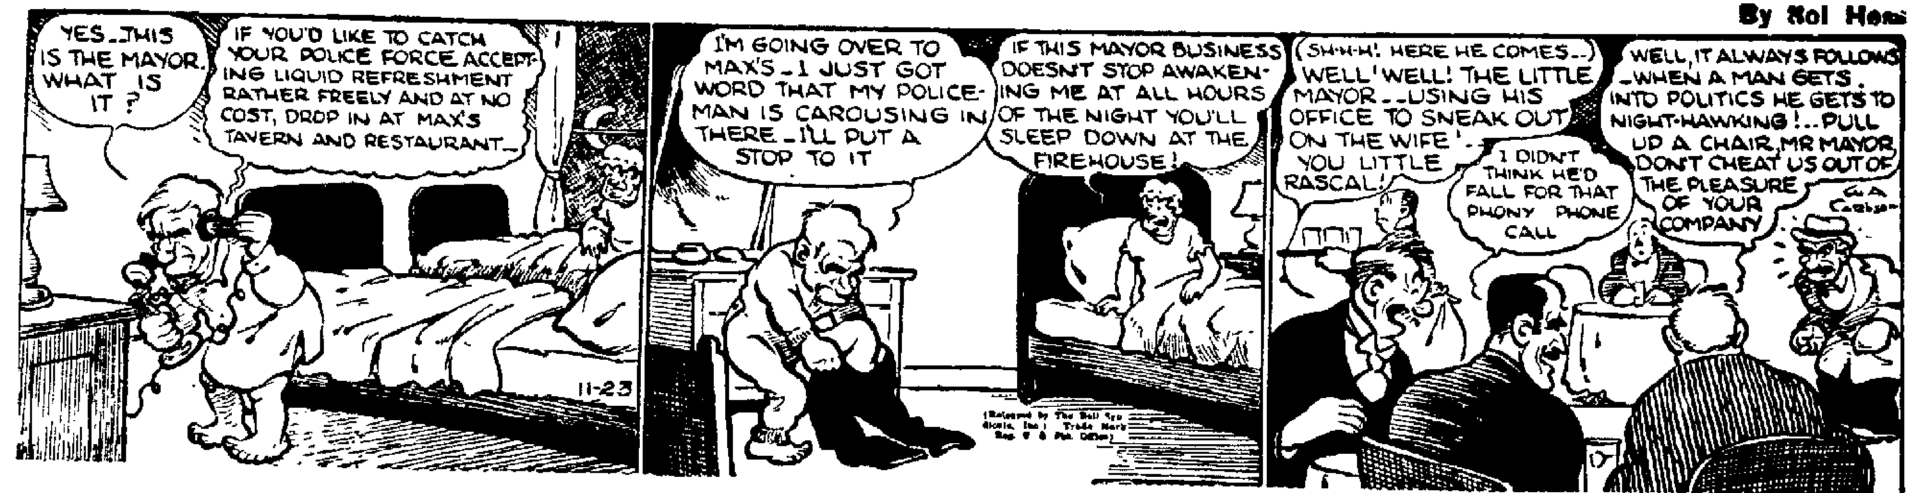
11-23
I'VE HAD SOME ODD EXPERIENCES IN MY LIFE, BUT I BELIEVE THIS CAPS THEM ALL! —WHAT'S THE REASON FOR – FOR THE EXCHANGE – MY SLIP FOR THIS?
THE RING'S TOO LARGE FOR ME! SORT OF LOOSE EVEN ON MY MIDDLE FINGER – ODD DESIGN! – OH! I WONDER WHERE IT CAME FROM?
WHAT WAS THAT GHOSTLY VISION I HAD? I WAS ONLY HALF AWAKE, BUT I CERTAINLY SAW SOMETHING GO OUT THAT WINDOW – THREE STORIES STRAIGHT DOWN TO A HARD CEMENT COURT PAVEMENT!
WHO WAS PAM'S GHOSTLY, MIDNIGHT VISITOR?

(Released by The Associated Newspapers) (Trade Mark Reg. U. S. Pat. Office by A. W. Brewerton)

THE NEBBS— False Alarm

By Sol Hess



YES—THIS IS THE MAYOR. WHAT IS IT?
IF YOU'D LIKE TO CATCH YOUR POLICE FORCE ACCEPTING LIQUID REFRESHMENT RATHER FREELY AND AT NO COST, DROP IN AT MAX'S TAVERN AND RESTAURANT—
11-23
I'M GOING OVER TO MAX'S—I JUST GOT WORD THAT MY POLICEMAN IS CAROUSING IN THERE—I'LL PUT A STOP TO IT
IF THIS MAYOR BUSINESS DOESN'T STOP AWAKENING ME AT ALL HOURS OF THE NIGHT YOU'LL SLEEP DOWN AT THE FIREHOUSE!
(SH-H-H! HERE HE COMES--) WELL! WELL! THE LITTLE MAYOR--USING HIS OFFICE TO SNEAK OUT ON THE WIFE!—YOU LITTLE RASCAL!
I DIDN'T THINK HE'D FALL FOR THAT PHONY PHONE CALL
WELL, IT ALWAYS FOLLOWS —WHEN A MAN GETS INTO POLITICS HE GETS TO NIGHT-HAWKING!..PULL UP A CHAIR, MR MAYOR, DON'T CHEAT US OUT OF THE PLEASURE OF YOUR COMPANY

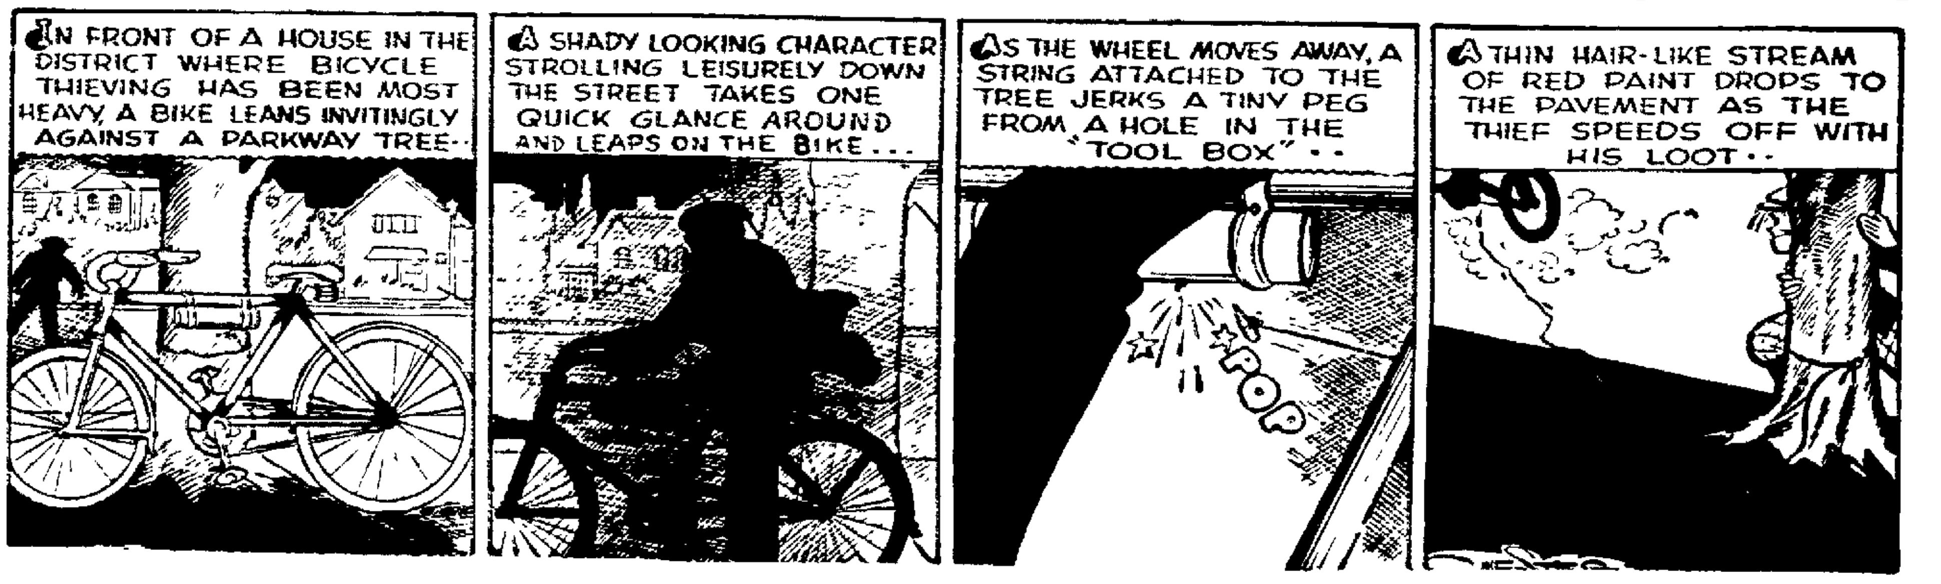
DICK TRACY— Red Trail

—By CHESTER GOULD



IN FRONT OF A HOUSE IN THE DISTRICT WHERE BICYCLE THIEVING HAS BEEN MOST HEAVY, A BIKE LEANS INVITINGLY AGAINST A PARKWAY TREE--
A SHADY LOOKING CHARACTER STROLLING LEISURELY DOWN THE STREET TAKES ONE QUICK GLANCE AROUND AND LEAPS ON THE BIKE...
AS THE WHEEL MOVES AWAY, A STRING ATTACHED TO THE TREE JERKS A TINY PEG FROM A HOLE IN THE "TOOL BOX"--
POP

RECOVERY SIGNS APPEAR TODAY IN STOCK MART

Many Issues Continue to Falter; Market Analysts Study Federal Summary.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK— Scattered recovery signs appeared in today's early stock market dealings but many issues continued to falter.

Studied by market analysts was the summary of the federal reserve system disclosing that, after 10 consecutive weekly increases, commercial, industrial and agricultural loans of New York City member banks declined $1,000,000 in the week ended Wednesday.

Interest was shown in forecasts that about $1,500,000,000 of plant construction will be directly attributable to the National Defense program this year and next.

MANSFIELD NEWS IN BRIEF

Special Agent Coming—W. L. Listerman, of Cleveland, special agent of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, will be the speaker at next Tuesday's meeting of the Rotary club, to be held at the Mansfield-Leland hotel.

Driver Fined — Pleading guilty in municipal court this morning to a charge of unsafe driving, R. E. Pittinger, 165 Vennum avenue, was fined $20 and costs. He was arrested last Saturday by state highway patrolmen.

Hold Meetings—Beginning Monday evening, evangelistic meetings will be held each evening at the Mansfield Gospel Center, Diamond and First street, until Dec. 1. Rev. J. C. Beal of Ashland will be speaker at the special services.

Faces Charge — Frank Bogner, 258 Ohio street, will face Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch in municipal court next Thursday on a charge of disorderly conduct. Bogner was taken into custody last night following an altercation in a South Park street cafe. The affidavit was signed by Homer Rush, whose address was not given.

THEATERS

Noel Coward, Composer.

Noel Coward, known to the screen as both actor and playwright, is represented for the first time as a composer in his operetta, "Bitter Sweet," which is showing at the Ohio, with Jeannette MacDonald and Nelson Eddy in the co-starring roles. The film is in technicolor. Miss MacDonald is seen as a Victorian belle and Eddy as her Viennese voice teacher, with whom she elopes on the eve of her wedding to another. Also prominently cast are Fay Holden, Diana Lewis, Lynne Carver and Janet Beecher.

* * *

New Dances In Movie.

Two entirely new dances, suggested by the ceremonial dances of both Cuban and Yucatan natives are introduced for the first time on the screen by LeRoy Prinz in "Dancing on a Dime," the feature at the Madison. Grace McDonald, Broadway singing and dancing star, heads the large cast. In a more serious vein is "Kat Carson," a historical romantic drama, with Jon Hall co-starred with Lynn Bari.

* * *

Drama of Alaska.

A powerful drama of man's struggle to gain gold in the Alaska wilderness is the thrilling Jack London story, "Queen of the Yukon," which opens Sunday at the Park. Irene Rich and Charles Bickford are co-starred in this tale of Sadie Martin, the "Queen" as she travels up and down the river in her sternwheeler, carrying prospectors to and from their claims. Second attraction is "Out West With the Peppers," and stars Edith Fellows.

* * *

Novel Filmized.

Sinclair Lewis' famous story, "Mantrap," has been translated into an exciting and intriguing picture under the title, "Untamed," co-starring Ray Milland, Patricia Morison and Akim Tamiroff, and opens Sunday at the Ritz. It was filmed entirely in technicolor with a background in the colorful north-Canadian forest of the Rockies. Co-feature is "The Return of Frank James," also a technicolor picture. Henry Fonda, Jackie Cooper, Donald Meek and many others are in the cast.

* * *

Maisie in Jungle.

Placed in the African jungles, "Congo Maisie" combines adventure, thrills and comedy with the problems of scientists battling the superstitions of the natives and brings into vivid relief a cross-section of the lives of four every-day people. This picture, starring Ann Sothern and John Carroll, comes Sunday to the Majestic, with "The Man From Dakota," with Wallace Beery, John Howard and Dolores Del Rio in the cast.

PICKS GARDNER

National Legion Commander Names Him on Committee.

R. B. Gardner, Mansfield, past Ohio commander of the American Legion, had been named today to the corps area co-ordinating committee for the Fifth area which includes Richland county.

Gardner was one of the Legion leaders appointed to committee posts by National Commander Milo J. Warner of Toledo at a meeting of the Legion's national executive committee in Indianapolis.

The committee adopted a resolution calling for "complete restriction of all immigration for permanent residence in the United States."

The resolution also urged "continuous national defense instead of on again, off again policies of unpreparedness" and legislation to renew the life of the Dies Committee on Un-American Activities, due to expire next Jan. 3.

Judge Suspends Sentences For Six Communists

COLUMBUS —(INS)— Following their guilty pleas to charges of making false affidavits concerning signatures on Communist party petitions, which sought to qualify party candidates at the last election, two men and four women were free today after Franklin County Common Pleas Judge Joseph M. Clifford suspended sentence.

Each of the six received a suspended fine of $100 and a suspended 30-day jail sentence. They were:

Jack Perloff, charged on ten counts; Mrs. Ruth Perloff, eight counts, Nelrene Grattan, 18 counts, Bessie Gearing, 13 counts; Martha Edmiston, six counts, and Bernard Rucker, four counts.

The signatures on the petitions were found to be invalid by the secretary of state, who ruled that the Communist party therefore could not be represented on the Nov. 5 ballot.

Judge Clifford said he was "not disposed to be severe" because of the defendants' past good records.
